IN BRIEF

Six arrested for rape, murder of Dalit sisters

LUCKNOW
Six persons have been arrested on charges of rape and murder of two minor Dalit sisters, who were found hanging from a tree in Lakhimpur Kheri district in Uttar Pradesh on Wednesday. Lakhimpur Kheri Superintendent of Police Sanjiv Suman said, "The girls were coaxed and taken to the farm and sexually abused. Two accused have confessed to having forceful sexual relations with the girls."

Goa Cong. Legislature Party merges with BJP

Group has the required numbers, says Assembly Speaker

SHOUMOJIT BANERJEE
PUNE

A day after eight of the 11 Congress MLAs in the Goa Assembly defected to the ruling Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), Goa Assembly Speaker Ramesh Tawadkar on Thursday formally accepted the merger of the State Congress Legislature Party (CLP) into the BJP.

Speaking to presspersons in Panaji, Mr. Tawadkar said he had gone through the letter submitted by the eight Congress MLAs and found that they had the required number (two-thirds) for their merger with the BJP.

The Congress rebel MLAs – former Chief Minister Digambar Kamat, Calangute legislator Michael Lobo and his wife Delilah Lobo, Aleixo Sequeira, Rodolfo Fernandes, Sankalp Amonkar, Rajesh Faldessai and Kedar Naik – joined the saffron party in the presence of Chief Minister Pramod Sawant and BJP Goa president Sadanand Shet Tanavade on Wednesday.

Instant reward: Sources say a Cabinet reshuffle is likely in order to accommodate the new entrants to the party. ■ PTI

Speaking to presspersons on Thursday after a meeting of the BJP's core committee, Mr. Tanavade said the Congress MLAs had joined his party owing to Prime Minister Modi's development agenda and that the decision to allow the Congress MLAs into the BJP was green-lighted by the saffron party's central leadership. "Had the proposal of merger been given to me, then I might have said no. But when the party's central leadership decides on something, then the decision is binding on all," Mr. Tanavade said.

According to sources, a Cabinet reshuffle by Mr. Sawant is imminent and two or three BJP Ministers may be dropped to make way for the new turncoats.

Congress' Goa desk in-charge Dinesh Gundu Rao alleged that the BJP had offered massive sums to the tune of ₹40 crore-50 crore to lure each MLA into their camp, besides instilling the fear of unleashing Central agencies on them.

Soren seeks clarity from Governor

Jharkhand CM calls for an end to three weeks of confusion over EC's letter

AMARNATH TEWARY
PATNA

Jharkhand Chief Minister Hemant Soren on Thursday met Governor Ramesh Bais and urged him to clear the confusion prevailing in the State for over three weeks over the Election Commission's (EC) purported opinion on Mr. Soren's "disqualification" as a member of the Legislative Assembly in connection with a mining lease contract.

"Provide a copy of the decision of the Election Commission and provide an opportunity for reasonable hearing at the earliest so that the atmosphere of uncertainty engulfing the State, which is dangerous for healthy democracy, can be Hemant Soren removed soon," Mr. Soren urged the Governor in a two-page letter submitted to him. Mr. Soren also said that the Opposition BJP in the State had been using the uncertainty to "destabilise a democratically elected government by trying to poach ruling UPA (United Progressive Alliance) MLAs".

Later, Mr. Soren tweeted in Hindi: "Meeting Hon'ble Governor Shri Ramesh Bais ji today, handed over a letter to him to remove the uncertainty of unexpected circumstances in the State for more than three weeks."

said here on Thursday. He was speaking at the launch of the novel 'Chief Minister's Breakfast Scheme' at the Corporation Primary School Aathimoolam II in Simmakal, Madurai.

"While interacting with students recently in a programme at Chennai, I asked a few students why they appeared tired and if they had eaten. They said that they usually don't eat in the morning, which struck a chord. Many officials and teachers affirmed the same. That spark led to the birth of the free breakfast scheme. Through this scheme, every student shall enter classrooms with their stomachs full," he said.

+ Delay in govt's flagship PMAY-G scheme to invite penalty

Centre to fine States that do not meet targets

SOBHA NAIR
NEW DELHI

Pulling up the States for the delay in completion of the Narendra Modi government's flagship rural household scheme – Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana (Gramin) – the Union Ministry of Rural Development has come up with a set of penalties that the State governments will have to bear for any further delay. Opposition-ruled West Bengal, Chhattisgarh and Odisha, Ambitious goals: Under the scheme, the Union government has set itself a target of constructing 2.95 crore houses.

along with BJP-ruled Assam, are the leading four States who are far behind their targets.

This is the first time, since the scheme started in April 2016 with a target of constructing 2.95 crore houses, that the Union Government has introduced a penalty clause. The initial deadline for the scheme was March 2022, which owing to the COVID-19 pandemic was extended by another two years till March 2024.

"The order is only to ensure that the States pay more attention to the programme. Because of the pandemic, we have already missed one deadline and now we have only 19 months till March 2024 to complete all the pending houses," a senior official at the Ministry said.

Under the scheme, the government has set itself a target of 2.95 crore houses. This number was deduced from the Socio-Economic Caste Survey, 2011. As per the statistics available with the Union Ministry of Rural Development, till August 2022, 2.02 crore houses have been constructed.

On September 13, the Ministry sent a circular to all States listing out six penalty clauses. If the sanction of the house is delayed for more than one month from the date of issue of the target, the State government will be penalised ₹10 per house for the first month of delay and ₹20 per house for each subsequent month of delay. Similarly, if the first instalment due to the beneficiary is delayed for more than seven days from the date of sanction, then the State governments will have to pay ₹10 per house per week of delay.

'Aim is conciliation with all armed groups in N-E'

Fall in insurgency incidents, says Shah

VIJAYA SINGH
NEW DELHI

Union Home Minister Amit Shah said on Thursday that it was the government's aim to resolve inter-boundary disputes in the north-east and strike a conciliation with all armed insurgent groups in the region before 2024.

Mr. Shah was speaking at the signing of a tripartite memorandum of settlement between the Government of India, the Assam government and eight armed Adivasi groups of Assam.

Violence goes down
He said that in the past three years, many agreements had been signed with the armed groups and 93% pacts had been implemented on the ground.

He said the number of insurgency-related incidents in the north-east decreased from 824 in 2014 to 158. The number of civilian killings in the region declined from 212 in 2014 to six, and the number of security forces killed during the same period had reduced to two from 20 earlier. More than 10,000 cadres had surrendered and joined the mainstream after 2014 and more than 7,000 weapons had been surrendered.

AFSPA relaxed
Mr. Shah said it was the aim of the government to make the north-east "terrorism-free".

The Home Minister said that because of the improvement in the security situation, the disturbed areas under the Armed Forces Special Powers Act (AFSPA) had been reduced from a large part of the north-east.

Roger Federer to retire after Laver Cup

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
CHENNAI

Tennis legend Roger Federer called time on his glittering career through a social media post on Thursday. And just like his game on the courts he adored for more than two decades, his note was high on grace. Winner of 20 Grand Slam titles, the former world number one forged a formidable triumvirate with Rafael Nadal and Novak Djokovic that dominated men's tennis.

But Federer isn't finished yet. He wrote: "The Laver Cup next week in London will be my final ATP event."

BJP-run MCD planning to create 16 more landfills in Delhi: Dy. CM

No such plans, instead corporation working to flatten existing landfills, says BJP

STAFF REPORTER
NEW DELHI

Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia on Thursday alleged that the Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD) is planning to create 16 new landfills in the city.

The BJP, in response, said AAP had stooped to a "new low" by "levelling a false allegation" against the MCD.

Mr. Sisodia said the BJP-run MCD has given three mountains of garbage to Delhi and, instead of working to get rid of them, the corporation was now coming up with plans for new landfill sites across the city.

'Lives at risk'

"This plan of the BJP will put the lives of Delhites in danger. The BJP, which is on its way out of the MCD, wants to convert Delhi into a garbage city," Mr. Sisodia said.

"Chief Minister Arvind

This plan of the BJP will put the lives of Delhites in danger. The BJP, which is on its way out of the MCD, wants to convert Delhi into a garbage city

MANISH SISODIA
Deputy Chief Minister

Kejriwal has a plan to eliminate the mountains of garbage in Delhi. To make Delhi clean and beautiful, people must give AAP a chance in the MCD as well," he added.

Responding to the allegations, Delhi BJP spokesperson Praveen Shankar Kapoor said that there were no proposals to set up new landfill sites by the erstwhile BJP-run corporations – North, South and East.

He added that the recently unified MCD also has "no plan" of setting up new sanitary landfill sites in the city. He also said that the civic body has instead been working towards flattening the three existing landfill sites at Bhalswa, Okhla, and Ghazipur.

A senior MCD official familiar with developments said the civic body has explored options of acquiring land for landfill sites before the corporation's trifurcation.

"Around 2008, when the MCD was yet to be trifurcated, we got some land from the Uttar Pradesh government. This was for the purpose of dumping waste since the Ghazipur landfill was already full," the senior MCD official said.

He added, "We also paid an advance of around ₹5 lakh. But due to resistance from the locals in the area, the government refused to hand over the land to us."

Exploring options

The official said, "Even now nobody in Delhi and NCR wants to give land to MCD for a landfill. But the corporation is still exploring its options."

AAP leader Durgesh Pathak alleged that the MCD had asked for land from DDA, DUSIB and Delhi Jal Board to set up new landfills.

"If the BJP succeeds, there will not be any area left in city without a landfill," Mr. Pathak added.

Arvind Kejriwal extends support to his deputy

Continuing its attack on the Delhi government's now-scraped excise policy, the BJP on Thursday shared a video of an alleged "sting operation" to claim that the government framed the policy to help a select few and used the money earned in kickbacks to fund its campaign in Goa and Punjab Assembly polls.

Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia reacted to the video saying the BJP should share it with the CBI and dared the agency to investigate the clip within four days and arrest him if the claims were true.

"If the CBI does not arrest me within four days, it will be accepted that the sting video is yet another lie and part of the conspiracy hatched at the offices of the BJP and Prime Minister Narendra Modi to topple the Arvind Kejriwal-led government in Delhi," Mr. Sisodia said. He said after the CBI raids and the ED investigation failed to find anything against him, the BJP was trying to find other ways to topple the AAP government.

Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal tweeted in support of his deputy saying he hoped that the BJP would accept the challenge to have the video investigated by the CBI. "Wow Manish! Only a true and courageous person can throw such a challenge. I am sure BJP will accept your challenge," Mr. Kejriwal wrote in Hindi.

The BJP said the "sting operation" had not been conducted by them and that the video was already in the public domain. BJP spokesperson Sudhanshu Trivedi said, "The person speaking in the video is an accused in the FIR filed by the CBI. He said that the government deliberately kept smaller players out of its now-scraped policy to help a few persons monopolise the market. Kejriwal used to tell people to do a sting on those seeking money illegally from them and he will act against the culprits. He should either act or apologise for his statement."

Leader of the Opposition in the Delhi Assembly Ramvir Singh Bidhuri demanded that the Delhi government be dismissed immediately as there was "no doubt left" that big companies were favoured while framing the liquor policy and "gave a share of their commission to AAP".

Blood donation drive on Bhagat Singh's anniversary

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

NEW DELHI

Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal on Thursday asked all Indians to commemorate the birth anniversary of Bhagat Singh, on September 28, by joining blood donation drives being organised by AAP at 50 locations in the Capital.

In a digital statement issued on Thursday, Mr. Kejriwal said, "Bhagat Singh laid down his life for the country. Let us all help those in need by donating blood on his birth anniversary. I appeal to the youth across the country to organise blood donation camps wherever possible and motivate as many people as they can to donate blood."

He added that the governments in Delhi and Punjab, as well as AAP itself, function on Bhagat Singh's ideology.

"Bhagat Singh has inspired scores of youth across various generations over the past nearly 100 years. He made the supreme sacrifice for the nation at the age of 23 years. He chose to get hanged for the nation. Let us give a heartfelt tribute to him on his birth anniversary," Mr. Kejriwal said.

A 38-year-old ambulance driver, returning from work on a motorcycle, was shot dead by two unidentified bike-borne men near Samaspur Khalsa in south-west Delhi on Thursday morning, the police said. The victim, identified as Sunil, used to work at Rao Tula Ram Hospital. A case has been registered and investigation is under way.

Compensatory afforestation in other States likely

Union Environment Ministry has taken cognisance of DDA's letter seeking permission, says official

MUNEEF KHAN

NEW DELHI

The Union Environment Ministry is likely to allow compensatory afforestation (CA) for development projects executed in the Capital in neighbouring States due to shortage of land in Delhi, according to a senior Ministry official.

The official said the Ministry has taken cognisance of the Delhi Development Authority's (DDA) request for the same but refused to elaborate further. The issue of shortage in land for CA was flagged by the DDA in two letters to the Ministry in March this year and in May 2021.

Senior DDA officials, who are familiar with the development, said they have not received any communication on the Ministry's likely move to allow CA in the neighbouring States.

Facing land shortage, the DDA has not been able to attend to requests from service agencies executing development projects in the Capital. ■ FILE PHOTO

On September 11, The Hindu had reported that the DDA continued to face land shortage due to which it had not been able to attend to requests from service agencies executing development projects in the Capital. The most recent request, according to a senior DDA official, was for around 25 hectares for CA in the Indian Railways.

In the March 30 letter to the Environment Ministry, DDA's vice-chairman Manish Gupta had sought relaxation in the guidelines issued under the Forest Conservation Act, 1980, for CA to be allowed on degraded forest land in neighbouring States for projects implemented by the Centre and public sector undertakings.

In 2021, the DDA had provided 119.76 hectares to various service-providing agencies for CA, according to data provided by the senior DDA official.

Compensatory Afforestation, according to the Handbook of Forest (Conservation) Act, 1980, has to be carried out for diversion of forest land or deemed forest land for non-forest purposes, while the purpose of CA is to compensate for the loss of "land by land" and loss of "trees by trees".

'Exclusive relaxation'

Earlier, the senior official in the Environment Ministry had told The Hindu that the DDA was not facing any land shortage for CA and it was only looking for an "exclusive relaxation" by proposing CA on "double degraded forest land".

According to paragraph 2.3(i) of chapter 2 of the Act, CA has to be raised on suitable non-forest land, which is equal to the area proposed for diversion, at the cost to be paid by the user agency.

Simultaneously, paragraph 2.3 (iii) states that in cases where non-forest land is available but to a lesser extent, CA can be carried out on degraded land which is twice the extent of the forest area that is being diverted.

The Ministry official had earlier said the DDA was pushing for a relaxation to carry out CA on "double degraded forest land, which we will not allow".

He had said that the urban body had over 5,000 hectares on the Yamuna floodplains, which remains encroached upon and "the DDA was not acting on this".

ED to move application for transfer of Jain's case

His lawyer calls the move 'baffling'

ISHITA MISHRA

NEW DELHI

The Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Thursday told a court, hearing the bail application of AAP Minister Satyendar Jain, that it was going to move an application to transfer his case to another special CBI court.

The lawyer representing Mr. Jain, N. Hariharan, called the move "baffling".

The hearing of Mr. Jain's bail plea has been going on since August 30 in the court of special CBI Judge Geetanjali Goel who, on September 13, directed the ED's counsel to submit a fresh chart of entities and shares in the alleged money laundering case against Mr. Jain and two of his alleged aides.

The Ministry official had earlier said the DDA was pushing for a relaxation to carry out CA on "double degraded forest land, which we will not allow".

He had said that the urban body had over 5,000 hectares on the Yamuna floodplains, which remains encroached upon and "the DDA was not acting on this".

The ED's money laundering case is based on a disproportionate assets FIR filed by the Central Bureau of Investigation in August 2017.

The ED has already filed a prosecution complaint under relevant sections of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act against the Jains and four companies purportedly associated with them, for allegedly laundering proceeds of crime worth ₹4.8 crore.

The Delhi Minister was arrested by the ED in connection with the case on May 31, 2022.

HC seeks govt's response on curtailment of school hours

PIL claims 1 lakh students affected; govt. attributes it to 'higher population density', 'post-COVID rush'

STAFF REPORTER
NEW DELHI

The Delhi High Court on Thursday asked the city government to respond to a plea alleging that some State-run schools in north-east Delhi were not imparting only two hours of daily education or teaching on alternate days.

A Bench of Chief Justice Satish Chandra Sharma and Justice Subramonium Prasad gave the direction while hearing a public interest litigation (PIL) by NGO Social Jurist.

Advocate Ashok Aggarwal, representing the NGO, told the court that some of the Delhi government-run schools in areas such as Kharjuri, Sabhapur, Tukbirpur, Sonia Vihar and Karawal Nagar, were either imparting only two hours of daily education or teaching on alternate days.

"Some of the schools are holding two hours of classes, some are calling children on alternate days. I have written to them repeatedly but (there has been) no response, no action," he said.

Mr. Aggrawal added that this system was affecting more than 1 lakh students. The NGO argued that the fundamental right to education, guaranteed under the Constitution as well as the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, were being violated.

Population density

In response, the Delhi government's counsel said, "After COVID, everyone has rushed to government schools." He added that the government was conscious of issues, including those related to infrastructure, in these areas, which, the counsel added, have a higher population density.

The NGO submitted that, on average, 5,000-6,000 stu-

Convict in 2004 Vasant Vihar murder case arrested

Nora Fatehi quizzed for second time in Sukesh Chandrashekhar case

Actor confronted with Pinky Irani: police

STAFF REPORTER

NEW DELHI

Film actor Nora Fatehi was interrogated for the second time by Delhi Police's Economic Offences Wing (EOW) on Thursday in connection with common Sukesh Chandrashekhar's ₹200 crore extortion case, the police said.

Special Commissioner of Police (Crime and EOW) Ravindra Yadav told The Hindu that Ms. Fatehi was confronted with Pinky Irani, a close associate of Chandrashekhar, for five to six hours. Ms. Irani had introduced Ms. Fatehi and actor Jacqueline Fernandez to Chandrashekhar, the police said.

Earlier when Ms. Fatehi was called for questioning, the EOW was left with several unanswered questions. "We cleared all the contradictions after both [Irani and Fatehi] were interrogated together," the Special CP said.

Ms. Fatehi said she never met Chandrashekhar in person but they have had limited conversation over WhatsApp and she was not aware of his illegal activities, the officer added.

of a studio and Chandrashekhar's wife had gifted her an expensive bag and a car instead of fee, a police officer said. Ms. Fatehi received the bag and her brother-in-law Mehboob accepted the car on her behalf due to certain legal constraints.

Mr. Yadav said Mehboob, who is Ms. Fatehi's cousin's husband, was also part of the interrogation.

Ms. Fatehi said she never met Chandrashekhar in person but they have had limited conversation over WhatsApp and she was not aware of his illegal activities, the officer added.

A 52-year-old life convict, who jumped parole in 2007, was arrested on Monday in connection with a 2004 double-murder case. He was convicted of murdering Lt. Gen. (retd.) Harnam Singh Seth and his wife Roop Seth in Vasant Vihar, the police said on Thursday.

The accused, Bharat Bhandari, 52, a resident of Nepal, was arrested on Monday from the India-Nepal border at Gorakhpur-Sanauli road in U.P.'s Maharaonji, a senior police officer said.

Bhandari was reported absconding after he jumped parole in the double murder case, where he and his associate, Pradeep Dutta, robbed and murdered Mr. Seth and his wife in June 2004, DCP (Special Cell) P.S. Kushwah said.

Both the accused were given life sentences. After spending 14 years in jail, Bhandari received parole and fled to Nepal in 2017, police said.

'Oppn. trying to weaken democracy'; ruling party accused of diverting attention

VIKAS VASUDEVA
CHANDIGARH

Opposition parties, including the BJP, the Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) and the Congress, sharpened their attack against the ruling Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) in Punjab over the latter's allegations that bribes were being offered to its (the AAP's) legislators to topple the State government.

They accused AAP of trying to divert public attention from corruption cases linked to it. AAP hit back and said Opposition parties were working together to weaken democracy.

Several leaders from Opposition parties brought up the audio clip of a conversation that allegedly took place between State Minister Fauja Singh Sarai and his close aide, Tarsem Lal Kapoor. In the conversation, the duo purportedly heard discussing a plan to extort money from foodgrain transporters.

State Finance Minister Harpal Cheema said the audio clip was being examined and if the allegations are found to be true, action would be taken. Mr. Sarai maintains the audio clip has been doctored.

He demanded a probe by a sitting judge of the Supreme Court into the case of alleged horse trading of Congress MLAs in Goa, Karnataka and Madhya Pradesh, and the alleged attempt to bribe AAP MLAs from Punjab and Delhi to switch sides.

Meanwhile, SAD leader Bikram Singh Majithia demanded a probe by the CBI and the Enforcement Directorate into the allegations levelled by AAP on efforts to bribe its legislators. "A High Court-monitored probe could also be held on the issue," he said.

Members of the BJP's Punjab unit met Governor Banwari Lal Purohit. They sought a probe by a retired High Court judge into the AAP's bribery charges. BJP State president Ashwani Kumar Sharma said the AAP's allegations were "completely baseless" and sought to divert the attention of the public from the government's failure.

Mr. Cheema accused the Congress of being a 'B-team' of the BJP and "clandestinely working for the saffron party".

BJP's 'poaching' bids to be discussed

STAFF REPORTER

NEW DELHI

All elected public representatives of the Aam Aadmi Party, including all Punjab AAP MLAs, have been invited to Delhi for a meeting with party chief Arvind Kejriwal and other senior leaders on Sunday.

Alleged attempts of poaching of AAP MLAs by the BJP is going to be a major point of discussion, according to a party source.

From across country

Calling it the party's first-ever Rashtriya Janpratinidhi Sammelan, AAP said,

"AAP's councilors, Zila Panchayat members, chairpersons, Mayors, Block Pramukhs, Sarpanches and Pradhans, from across the country, will also join the conference."

It is expected to see the presence of 62 MLAs from Delhi, 92 MLAs from Punjab and two MLAs from Goa. AAP's 10 Rajya Sabha

AAP convener Arvind Kejriwal

MPs from Delhi and Punjab will also attend the conference, the party said.

"Apart from this, the expansion of the Aam Aadmi Party across the country and strengthening the organisation will be discussed in the meeting. The issues of the public representatives who have come to the conference will be heard at length, so that concrete initiatives can be taken to strengthen the organisation in that State," the conference read.

The retrenched teachers have been staging protests in various forms on a daily basis to press their demand of reinstatement or fresh recruitment. They rejected the State government's assurance of "phased recruitment" in different capacities at various departments.

A group of retrenched teachers locked the office chamber of the education director soon after their leaders were released from custody following a brief detention.

The Tripura Commission for Women has taken cognizance of the forceful confinement of the pregnant officer.

184 flats to be built in central Delhi

DAMINI NATH

NEW DELHI

The Central Public Works Department's (CPWD) proposal to construct multistorey buildings with 184 flats and amenities for Members of Parliament on Baba Kharak Singh Marg has been recommended for environmental clearance by the Delhi State Expert Appraisal Committee (SEAC), according to the minutes of the meeting last week.

Under the project, four 23-floor buildings and a five-floor amenity block are to be built after demolition of the buildings on the site.

The SEAC, at its meeting held on September 9, approved the CPWD's plan to retain 150 of the 372 trees on the site and transplant 222 trees. SEAC chairman Vijay Garg said the condition of providing electric charging points for e-vehicles for at least 20% of the car parking was imposed in accordance with Delhi building by-laws.

The project was recommended to the State Environment Impact Assessment Authority for issuing environmental clearance, according to the minutes of the meeting last week.

A CPWD official said a construction agency, Sam India Infrastructure, had been selected following a tendering process earlier this year.

The Punjab and Haryana High Court on Thursday suspended the jail term of Punjabi pop singer Daler Mehndi, who was convicted by a Patiala court in a 2003 human trafficking case.

A single-judge Bench of Justice G.S. Gill suspended Mehndi's two-year sentence in jail, said the singer's counsel Arshdeep Singh Cheema. Mehndi had moved the High Court in July after the Patiala court upheld the sentence awarded in March 2018 by the trial court.

The court of Additional Sessions Judge in Patiala had dismissed his appeal on July 14 against the 2018 order of the trial court. He was then sent to the Patiala jail. The Patiala police had booked Mehndi and his brother, Shamsher, who died in 2017, on a complaint filed by one Bakshi Singh. At least 35 more complaints levelling charges of fraud against the brothers also came up later.

The complainants had alleged that the brothers had taken 'passage money' from them to help them migrate to the United States illegally.

Serial car thief's joyride comes to screeching halt

Delhi Police has arrested Anil Chauhan who allegedly stole around 6,000 cars from across the country over the past 24 years and is the kingpin of a gang of 500 auto-lifters with an annual turnover of at least ₹60 crore. Arnabjit Sur pieces together his journey from being a cab driver in the Capital to a repeat offender

Every week over the past few years, flight attendants on the two-hour flight from Guwahati to Delhi had been encountering two common faces: a middle-aged couple with expensive tastes. While the tall, dark and suited husband sported a Rolex watch, wore gold chains and rings, and carried a leather suitcase, the wife was dressed in formals and donned shades. A few days later, police personnel manning checkpoints on the 38-hour road journey from the Capital to Assam would see the same couple travelling in a high-end SUV. They spoke fluent English and passed off as hotshot entrepreneurs heading home after a business meeting.

Little did they know that the suave gentleman was none other than Anil Chauhan, 52, who, according to the police, has single-handedly stolen around 6,000 cars from across the country over the past 24 years and is the kingpin of a gang of 500 auto-lifters with an annual turnover of at least ₹60 crore. On September 5, Delhi Police revealed that it had finally nabbed him in the city on May 23 after being hot on his trail for several months. Geeta Devi, 48, Chauhan's third wife, who had not accompanied him on this trip to Delhi, was questioned when the team travelled to Assam and let off, the police said.

The Hindu dug into Chauhan's criminal records, FIRs and court orders in cases involving him, and spoke to investigators and neighbours to piece together his journey from being an ordinary cab driver in Delhi to an infamous car thief with around 300 cases, including attempt to murder, criminal conspiracy, cheating, forgery and possessing illegal arms, lodged against him in Delhi, Assam and Meghalaya.

Humble beginnings

Born in 1970 into a middle-class family, Chauhan was one of three siblings raised in a one-storey house in south Delhi's Khanpur Extension, police sources say. His father, Deshraj Chauhan, worked as a taxi driver and earned around ₹2,000 a month. His mother was a homemaker. Chauhan studied up to Class XII at a government school in Andrews Ganj and followed in his father's footsteps, the police say. He drove vehicles for various taxi services, earning around ₹4,000 a month. Officers say he never showed interest in pursuing studies and wanted to earn fame and wealth by hook or by crook.

His neighbours remember Chauhan as an ambitious boy who led a quiet life. "He worked as a cab driver and kept to himself. He was passionate about cars and wanted to own one himself. No one could match his knowledge of cars. Later, we learnt that he has been accused of stealing cars from several States. He never seemed like someone who would take to crime," says Pramod, 36, a resident of the locality for the past 30 years.

Sunny, 37, another resident of the area, says the news of Chauhan's arrest brought back memories of a boy who always sported a smile and treated neighbours as members of his own family. "Our family ran a tea shop near Chauhan's house and his father used to visit our shop every day to chat with my father. Chauhan was a simple man like his father. I knew he always wanted to taste success and desired a lavish life, but I didn't expect him to achieve those goals in this manner," Mr. Sunny says.

In 1990, Chauhan married Mamata and they had two children. Five years later, she passed away and he continued to work as a driver to support his children. "He got fed up with his meagre pay and decided to make a quick buck through illicit means," an officer says.

Taking to crime

In 1998, Chauhan joined a gym in his locality and started spending most of his time there. "He wanted to be known as a muscleman in his area," the officer says. At the gym, he met Raj Kumar, who dabbled in crime, and they soon became good friends. "Kumar told Chauhan about Shiva, who often drove to Nepal and learnt that stolen cars fetched good prices there," the officer says. Mr. Kumar sensed a hunger for money in Chauhan and made him his accomplice in stealing vehicles. "Kumar introduced Chauhan to Mohammad Alam, a locksmith. The trio then started stealing vehicles," a source says.

After carrying out a number of car thefts, they were arrested by the Hauz Khas police, but released on bail after a month. "The trio became notorious in the early 2000s for stealing vehicles from posh localities. They were jailed several times but would soon come out on bail. With CCTVs not being so common then, nabbing them became a tough task," the source says. The police say the trio sold two to three cars a day to middlemen in Delhi, who sent them to Nepal or sold their parts in scrap markets in Sotiganj in Uttar Pradesh.

"Chauhan's expertise in stealing cars soon grew and he considered his accomplices a liability. So, after securing their contacts in the criminal world, he cut ties with them," the source says. He had now become a "lone wolf" and learnt how to make duplicate car keys. "Fewer people meant lesser risk and more profit," the source says.

Chauhan also started carrying an unlicensed pistol to protect himself from the police. Of the 184 cases lodged against him in Delhi, 12 are related to firing at police personnel.

"He fired his gun whenever we managed to intercept him in a stolen car. Many policemen have been injured in encounters with him and several attempts to murder cases have been filed against him. He had a strong build and several personnel were required to tackle him," the source says.

A police officer recalls an incident where he came face to face with the car-lifter. "I had received a tip-off that he was fleeing in an SUV from south Delhi. I rushed to the spot and found Chauhan's car right in front of my vehicle. He stared straight into my eyes and brandished his pistol. I was travelling alone and I feared that he would shoot at me," he says. In 2000, Chauhan fired at a policeman posted at the Nizamuddin police station who tried to stop him from stealing a car. In 2017, a court delivered its verdict in the case and sentenced him to five years in prison.

Expanding footprint

In 2001, Chauhan started expanding his operations to Nagaland and Assam, which were ripe markets for stolen vehicles. He got in touch with Pukhvi Naga, a middleman who sold such cars in Nagaland. A year later, the Hauz Khas police arrested Chauhan in a car theft case and he was remanded in judicial custody in Tihar jail. Behind bars, he met Raju Verma and Bappi Sil, who sold stolen vehicles to clients in Assam.

On being released, Chauhan started driving the stolen vehicles all the way to Assam to hand them over to Mr. Verma. "Verma would then get in touch with Naga and send him vehicles for sale in Nagaland," a police officer says. These vehicles were also often fitted with fake number plates and used to commit various crimes, the officer says. Later, he forged ties with Bahadur, a middleman who paid him double the cost price of the cars to sell them in Nepal. "Chauhan then drove over 1,000 km from Delhi to Nepal without any stops to hand over the vehicles to Bahadur," the officer says. Chauhan soon built a strong network of auto-lifters and middlemen. "He impressed his accomplices with his sheer knowledge about vehicles and how to steal them from right under the nose of the police."

In the 2000s, Chauhan used to mostly steal second-hand Maruti Suzuki 800s, but later targeted high-end SUVs and luxury sedans that fetched him ₹10 lakh to ₹12 lakh, another officer, who interrogated him, says. Another officer explains Chauhan's modus operandi: "To steal a Maruti Suzuki 800, he would first remove the lock of its fuel tank and insert a narrow metal slab into it. He would turn the slab in a circular manner to ensure that the lock's structure got imprinted on it. Chauhan would then make deep cuts on the marked portions of the slab to create a duplicate key."

To save time, he made the duplicate key the night before the theft. The next day, he just had to insert the key in the car, start the engine and speed away, the police officer says.

In 2001, Chauhan bought a private bus under the Delhi Transport Corporation and two autorickshaws and gave them on rent, bringing him more income. "He could have easily sustained himself with that money but he was addicted to the world of crime," a police source says.

Building his own gang

In 2004, Delhi Police announced a reward of ₹25,000 on his head after which he shifted base to Sonitpur in Assam, where he married Rita, a local woman who had strong political connections in the ruling Congress government. After stealing over 200 vehicles in four years, he looked to build an army of young auto-lifters who were "looking to earn a quick buck" and "willing to go to any lengths to break the law", a source says.

The members of his gang were mostly criminals who were incarcerated with him in Tihar jail. "Every time he was sent to the prison, he would coax fellow inmates to join his gang. He taught them his style of stealing vehicles without leaving a trace," says a senior police officer whose team has nabbed Chauhan several times. The gang members were spread across the country and they also carried unlicensed pistols. "He earned a commission on every car that was stolen," the police officer says. "All 500 auto-lifters in the gang stole vehicles from different parts of the country and sold them to middlemen, who either sold them to clients or traded their parts for money. This way Chauhan received a cut out of all the thefts his gang members committed," the officer adds.

The officer pegged the total number of car thefts carried out by Chauhan at 6,000. During the early days of his criminal career in 1998, Chauhan and his accomplices stole at least two to three cars a day and sold them to middlemen in the Capital. After shifting his base to Assam in 2004, he identified middlemen in the Northeast States and single-handedly stole around two to three vehicles a week and drove them to his receivers in Nepal, Assam and Meghalaya. He also continued to sell stolen vehicles to middlemen in Delhi who later sold them in cities like Meerut.

However, Chauhan remained suspicious of moles and informants among his gang members. "He asked his gang members to swear that they would never reveal his whereabouts if they were arrested. He would generally not reveal much about himself to his gang members and cut ties with them once they were arrested," the officer says.

Module busted

In 2005, Delhi Police's Crime Branch arrested Chauhan along with five Meerut-based accomplices and recovered 34 cars from their possession. The police said nearly 80 cases of car theft were solved with their arrest. "He had been selling most of the stolen cars in Meerut as he found buyers offering lucrative prices there," the source says.

The police say most auto-lifters arrested nowadays reveal that they learnt the tricks of the trade from Chauhan. "There was no one to rival Chauhan in the world of auto-lifting. People feared crossing his path as he commanded obedience from his followers and had built a reputation as a strongman. However, despite having so many people at his beck and call, Chauhan chose to steal vehicles on his own. He didn't like anyone interfering with his work," a Sub-Inspector says.

Police sources say to gain legitimacy in the corridors of power and expand his criminal empire, Chauhan used his wife's political connections. "Rita had good contacts with politicians and used her influence to secure Chauhan a job as a Class-I contractor with the Assam government in 2014. He used it as a cover to carry out his nefarious activities," a source says. Apart from a ₹10-crore mansion in Guwahati, Chauhan owned several multi-storey properties across the country. "He lived an opulent life in Assam and splurged on clothes, wristwatches and furniture."

In 2008, Chauhan married Ms. Geeta, whom he had met in the early 2000s through her brother Pawan, who worked with him as an auto-lifter in Guwahati. The police say the couple had one daughter and Ms. Geeta not only knew about her husband's criminal activities but also helped him in thefts. However, Chauhan didn't divorce Ms. Rita and maintained cordial ties with her and their four children. In 2009, the police arrested Pawan in Delhi.

Keeping up with the times

DCP (Central) Shweta Chauhan, whose team arrested Chauhan, says Ms. Geeta started accompanying him to Delhi so that no one could raise suspicions. "They wore expensive clothes and shoes as no one would expect such extravagance from auto-lifters," she says.

The officer says the couple had a fixed schedule. "They always boarded the 4 p.m. flight from Guwahati. On reaching Delhi, they would head to a IBHK flat that was taken on rent and shut themselves up. Neither of them would step out or speak to neighbours."

A few hours later, Chauhan would step out and arrange for a stolen motorcycle to do a quick recce of posh localities and identify possible targets, the DCP says. Every five days, the couple would shift to another house in the same locality to evade suspicion.

According to the police, Chauhan started carrying a laptop with him as most cars now had a start button and he had to hack into the engine control module of vehicles and delete the default memory, a process that would take 10 minutes. The duo would then steal the car, take the Yamuna Expressway and head towards Assam or Nepal to hand over the vehicle to their associates.

"The couple would sometimes hire a driver, attach a fake number plate on the stolen vehicle and use forged documents to pass through border checkpoints. They posed as a family heading back home. They managed to steal and deliver at least two cars every month to middlemen in Nepal and Assam. They also constantly changed their SIM cards to prevent the police from tracing their calls. They mostly communicated using WhatsApp," a police source says.

An officer says Chauhan was able to continue his stealing spree despite being jailed several times as bail is easily granted in car theft cases. "Every time he was arrested, he secured bail within a month. Auto-lifting is a non-bailable offence but it is for the courts to adjudicate the merit of each case," he says.

In 2010, he was remanded in the custody of the Meghalaya police after he was arrested in a joint raid by Assam Police and Shillong Police from Silchar. Four of his accomplices were also arrested for allegedly tampering with the chassis and engine numbers of stolen vehicles and selling them to unsuspecting buyers in Mizoram and other States.

In April 2015, Rumi Nath, a Congress MLA from Borkhola in Assam's Cachar district, was arrested for allegedly arranging car passes for Chauhan to enter the premises of the State Assembly and receiving a stolen BMW from him. His wife Rita was also arrested in the case after Ms. Nath in her response to the Assembly Secretariat's notice said that she had recommended issuance of car passes to the alleged car lifter at the behest of his wife who was also a Congress worker. He remained in jail for five years before being released in 2020. He then started living away from his family at a rented house in Sonitpur in Assam.

In August 2015, the Enforcement Directorate (ED) registered a case against Chauhan under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act for allegedly possessing ill-gotten wealth and owning several benami properties across the country. The ED alleged that Chauhan had carried out transactions amounting to ₹6.6 crore through 17 bank accounts.

The Central agency then froze his accounts and seized Chauhan's ₹10-crore bungalow in Assam and several other properties in other States. All his properties were later auctioned.

The DCP says apart from auto-lifting, Chauhan was also involved in smuggling the horns of rhinoceros from Assam to several other States and supplying arms to several gangsters. "Stealing vehicles was his bread and butter and he would never let go of it. Smuggling rhino horns and arms were a means to earn more money," a source says.

Retired Delhi Police ACP Rajender Singh, whose team caught him twice in the past, says Chauhan considered stealing a vehicle "a challenge". "He was an active criminal for several years in the Ambedkar Nagar area. If a particular vehicle that Chauhan had laid his eyes on was parked behind half a dozen cars, he would first break into those cars, set them aside and then steal the targeted vehicle," Mr. Singh says.

He adds that though Chauhan has been nabbed, cracking down on his network spread across the country will be an onerous task. "It is a well-oiled racket. There were other budding auto-lifters too, but only Chauhan managed to make it big," Mr. Singh says.

Police close in

In January this year, the Dispur police in Assam arrested Chauhan for allegedly stealing a Scorpio car from Guwahati's Zoo Road. After he was released on bail, a 10-member team of Delhi Police's Central district and an anti-auto-theft squad were keeping track of Chauhan's movements. The police personnel also visited his bungalow in Sonitpur to learn about his whereabouts and deployed officers outside his hideouts in Delhi. On May 23, the team received a tip-off that Chauhan was coming to the Capital to meet his gang members.

A trap was laid at Desh Bandhu Gupta Road in central Delhi and he was arrested. The police recovered five country-made pistols, five live cartridges and one stolen car from him. An official said Chauhan had come to Delhi to deliver arms in the stolen car. He has been remanded in judicial custody and incarcerated in Tihar jail. The police say his criminal record will be produced in court so that he doesn't come out soon.

'THE ACTOR I AM IS BECAUSE OF THE PERSON I AM'

Swara Bhasker on playing a meek housewife, prepping up for Mrs. Falani and why Bollywood is being targeted

■ ANUJ KUMAR

As somebody who has turned her "dreams into her zid (tenacity)", Swara Bhasker says her convictions drive the roles she plays. "The actor I am is because of the person I am. If I was the person who got easily scared and did not speak up, I would not have done Nil Battey Sannata, Anarkali of Aarah or Veerey Ki Wedding. My convictions not only influence what I say in public; they also influence my choice of scripts."

The Delhi-based actor is playing a meek housewife in Jahaan Chaar Yaar releasing this week. A fun film that puts a spin on the Bollywood staple of friends taking a road trip, Swara is excited to see the audience's response to the movie.

What compelled you to do Jahaan Chaar Yaar?

• Usually, the friends taking a road trip are cool, urban, rich young guys and girls. Here, the makers have put together a group of middle-class housewives, who are called "behenjis", by the more hip crowd in a coming-of-age story. I found it really cute. I liked the way the film re-appropriates the term behenji and flips it to say how cool, badass, and sassy they can be. Shivangi, the character I play is, a timid woman who has not been able to stand up for herself and is taken for granted by her family. I saw it as a challenge. I make audiences that see me as a Twitter warrior believe that the person on screen is a meek character from a small town?

How did you hide the real Swara?

• That's the craft and fun of it. As an actor I don't judge my characters. After Nil Battey Sannata and Anarkali of Aarah, Shivangi is one character I felt emotionally connected to. It reminded me of my maternal grandmother. Married at the age of 15, she used to tell me stories of life as a teenage bride married to an Anglicised man, hailing from a zamindar family. She was a very devoted wife and mother. When I read the role of Shivangi, I saw my grandmother and I channeled everything that I knew about her into the character.

Tell us about Mrs. Falani that you recently signed up for

• Here I pick from where I left Shivangi – I play a protagonist in each of the stories in this anthology of nine characters.

• Bollywood is not as bad as people make it out to be. I don't have a mentor or godfather, I don't have an actor or producer boyfriend and on top of that, I don't have a model's body

When small is more

Tapas platters are gaining popularity in the city with youth, in particular, making the switch from heavy meals to snacks

■ RAHUL VERMA

During a road trip, I once stopped for tea at a small shack on the outskirts of a dusty little town. The owner placed a small piece of paper on top of my glass with a biscuit on it. It was a way of keeping the tea hot and ensuring that no flying elements took an uninvited dip in it. It worked. I took a sip of my tea, and, in that unlikely place, thought about the origins of tapas in Spain.

And here's why. Tapas, as we all know, are Spain's much-loved finger food. The word tapa means a lid, and legend has it that a drink at a pub came with a piece of bread or cheese covering the rim in earlier times in Spain, possibly to keep the flies at bay.

I have always loved tapas – simple ones such as salsa on sourdough or olives as well as the more elaborate ones such as calamari or jamon Iberico pata negra. So, I was happy when I learned about a new restaurant in town – called Amaltas Indian tapas and bar. Interestingly, tapas here are regional dishes that have been innovatively tweaked. For instance, on the menu are banana flower tempura and small prawns flavoured with Bengal's gondharaj lemon.

The well-lit and airy restaurant in the M Block Market of Greater Kailash 2 has a pleasing décor that toasts the wonders of Nature. I entered a restaurant after a long, long time, and had a nice tapas-filled lunch.

The opener was a jalebi chat – a savoury jalebi, topped with spicy yoghurt, chutney, sev and pomegranate. The crunch of the jalebi complemented the sweet-and-sour toppings, and I enjoyed it thoroughly, almost as much as the Kalimpong cheese tart, creamy cheese custard in a small pastry shell, served with a dollop of Bengal's mildly sweet tomato chutney.

The Ahmedabad special sandwich was interesting. Inspired by handvo, a Gujarati fermented rice and lentil batter dish, this gluten-free sandwich was stuffed with spiced potatoes and topped with crunchy sev. The Kachampuli chicken wings – with the strong flavour of the tart kachampuli – didn't appeal to me much, but I loved the meat bhaji with pao, a tasty keema patty, topped with a fried egg, and served with toasted pao.

The chocolate and jaggery pot au crème was sublime, as was the salted caramel kheer (barnyard millet cooked in milk, with jaggery and salted caramel). The menu includes small and big plates – with dishes such as sweet corn momos with lebu broth, onion samosas, pulled pork samosas, mutton pepper roast and broccoli makhanai.

Tapas make for satisfying meals. And, you don't get a heavy I've-eaten-too-much feeling at the end of the meal. Not surprisingly, young restaurant goers are greatly fond of tapas, especially since these dishes can be eaten throughout the day. Finger food, indeed, can be finger-licking good.

Manoj Arora's first solo show, 'Rediscover Hampi' features photographs that capture the beauty of the ancient capital of the Vijayanagar Empire

■ SOMA BASU

Manoj Arora's innate attraction towards monuments and their magnificent history took him to Hampi in Karnataka during the prolonged pandemic last year. "Luckily, it was not overcrowded and I had the space and time to connect with the subject leisurely, taking shots in whichever way that appealed to my eyes and touched my heart and soul," he says.

As a result, he returned with 600-plus frames that captured the beauty of the silent ruins of the ancient capital of the Vijayanagar Empire in multiple hues and moods. Arora froze bewitching images of monoliths, rocks and boulders, the elaborate carvings and inscriptions on the stones, the narratives in the murals of the temple ceilings, the sculptures and the trees against the play of light.

Just before the inauguration of his photo exhibition 'Rediscover Hampi' at Bikaner House, he was both excited and nervous about his first solo show. But the art connoisseurs magically engaged with his panels.

The exhibition features 80 prints that Arora describes as 'realist and mythical'. "There is an indescribable beauty in this timeless place that doesn't require a language to express. I want people to feel and experience this 14th Century city and take pride in the country's heritage," he says.

Whether you are looking at gods and goddesses carved in stone and captured in the refractive indices of dusk or fading murals on the ceilings of the famous Virupaksha Temple, or the sun rays falling on a wizened tree that stands tall amid the ruins – every shot of Arora's speaks through its composition, depth and solitude.

sacred complexes, the pillared halls and mandapams, the memorial structures and shrines, the riverside features, the bazars and residential quarters, the gates and stables, the reservoirs and hydraulic works, the towers, arches and ornate pillars: everything integrates harmoniously into the landscape and reveals the socio-political and economic prosperity of the times. "Every vestige of the past there has a story to tell," says Arora.

Art critic Uma Nair, who curated the show, says 'Rediscover Hampi' is a contemporary conversation on antiquity that brings out passages of time. She worked on the compositions for six months categorising them under six different themes in order to bring out the historical beauty of the UNESCO-recognised site by the banks of the Tungabhadra River.

"Arora's narrative assemblage is born within the sculptures, murals and monuments of the capital of one of the greatest kingdoms of South India. His photographs help find a lost heritage, add to one's knowledge of history, highlight the art and skills of photography and brings to fore the vision and passion of the photographer," says Uma.

Hosted by Masha Art, the exhibition is on at Main art gallery, Bikaner House, Pandara Road, India Gate; Till September 22; 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

'Move to pick Gujarat based on expert advice'

Vedanta chairman says Maharashtra made huge effort to outbid other States for semiconductor plant

ABHINAY DESHPANDE

MUMBAI

The Maharashtra government made a competitive offer to outbid other States, but the decision to pick Gujarat for Vedanta-Foxconn's $20-billion semiconductor unit was based on professional advice, said Vedanta Resources Limited chairman Anil Agarwal on Thursday.

He said they had decided on Gujarat a few months ago as the State government met their expectations. "But in the July meeting with the Maharashtra leadership, they made a huge effort to outbid other States with a competitive offer. We have to start in one place, and based on professional and independent advice we chose Gujarat," Mr. Agarwal said.

The 68-year-old billionaire industrialist took to Twitter and said Vedanta-Foxconn had been professionally assessing the site for a multibillion-dollar investment. "This is a scientific and financial process which takes several years. We started this about 2 years ago... This multibillion-dollar long-term investment overnment for letting the mega project slip away.

Slamming the Opposition over its criticism, Maharashtra Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis said it was disappointing that "negative, false and baseless claims" were being spread to gain political mileage. He hit back at them with questions about the Nanar refinery project. "I want to ask Opposition leaders, who sent back the ₹3.5 lakh crore refinery from Maharashtra?"

"My advice to these leaders is to focus on becoming competent and efficient and not negative and desperate," Mr. Fadnavis said.

On Wednesday, Chief Minister Shinde said that the MVA government didn't cooperate on the Vedanta-Foxconn project, and he did not want to get into the blame game over neighbouring Gujarat bagging the project. "The Opposition can introspect," he said.

He said the group has stated that they would set up a manufacturing hub for iPhone and TV equipment in the State.

Centre's assurance akin to convincing a child: Pawar

STAFF REPORTER

MUMBAI

The multibillion-dollar Vedanta-Foxconn semiconductor plant should not have gone out of Maharashtra, said Nationalist Congress Party chief Sharad Pawar on Thursday. There was no hope of it coming back to the State as it has opted for Gujarat, he added.

"The Centre's assurance to the State that it will get a bigger project than the Vedanta-Foxconn semiconductor plant is akin to trying to 'convince a child,' he said addressing a press conference in Pune.

The former Union Minister said it would have been good if the plant had come up at Talegaon near Pune, which is an automobile hub.

Meanwhile, Maharashtra Congress general secretary Sachin Sawant claimed that shifting out Vedanta-Foxconn to infeasible Dholera will harm the country.

'Under pressure'

He alleged that despite the previous Maha Vikas Aghadi government's offer for a better package than Gujarat, the JV has gone to Dholera 'under pressure' from the Central government. "It [Dholera] is an inconvenient place as compared to Talegaon, where it was earlier planned," the Congress leader said.

YouTuber gets 6-month jail for remarks on judiciary

He hasn't expressed regret for remarks: Madurai HC Bench

STAFF REPORTER

MADURAI

The Madurai Bench of the Madras High Court on Thursday held well-known blogger 'Savukku' Shankar guilty of criminal contempt for his remarks on the higher judiciary and sentenced him to six months of simple imprisonment. He was directed to be lodged in Madurai Central Prison.

The court initiated suo motu contempt proceedings against him following his remarks, "The entire higher judiciary is riddled with corruption," made to a YouTube channel on July 22. It framed charges and called upon him to explain, within a week, why he should not be held guilty of scandalising the judiciary by making statements in public domain.

Mr. Shankar requested the court to suspend the sentence, but a Division Bench of Justices G.R. Swaminathan and B. Pugalendhi refused.

The judges observed that the conduct of the contemnor nor deserves to be noted. Nowhere did he express his regret or remorse. He did not offer any apology at all. On the other hand, he asserted that he was justified in making the charged statements. The Bench was of the view that a reading of the charged statements would lead anyone to the conclusion that they are likely to lower the prestige and dignity of courts and judges.

We do not propose to quail. There are occasions when Judges have to be firm and stern. Shrugging off such provocations by stating that we possess broad shoulders would be seen as a sign of weakness. The contemnor has shown himself to be an unrepentant character," the judges held.

'Bereft of jurisdiction'

At the hearing, Mr. Shankar contended that the proceedings were bereft of jurisdiction. Relying on the Contempt of Court Rules, he said that since the matter had not been forwarded to the Advocate-General in the first instance, the present proceedings were not maintainable.

He submitted that he was concerned with the under-representation of the suppressed classes and the over-representation of Brahmins in the higher judiciary. He claimed his comments were taken out of context and that he had respect for the judiciary.

Odisha BJP asked to strengthen base to better 2019 LS tally

Three-day training camp in Puri ends

SATYASUNDAR BARIK

BHUBANESWAR

A three-day-long training camp of Bharatiya Janata Party concluded at Puri on Thursday with national leaders expecting the State unit to pull their socks up to either improve upon their 2019 Lok Sabha tally or retain their performance in 2024 elections.

The party appeared to have turned its focus on Odisha in wake of possible loss of seats expected in Bihar and West Bengal due to change in political scenario in two States.

BJP general secretary (organisation) B.L. Santosh, party in-charge of Odisha Sunil Banal and Union Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw interacted with party leaders, Members of Parliament and Members of Legislative Assembly.

The urgency being shown to strengthen its grassroots structure is happening at a time when party finds it difficult to recover from the crushing defeat at hand of Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik-led Biju Janata Dal in this year's panchayat and urban body elections.

Eight Union Ministers have visited the State in past eight days. The party hinted that there would be regular visit of Union Ministers in coming days. Party chief J.P. Nadda is likely to be in Odisha by end of September.

"The party has taken a long time from being non-entity in Odisha to becoming third party and subsequently second largest party. It has been a long journey, but it is yet to become number one party. The kind of speed with which the party has moved in other States has not happened in Odisha," admitted senior party Muralidhar Rao here.

"The eastern Indian States has always been a promising State for us, but it is yet to become performing party here," Mr. Rao pointed out.

"The situation is too complex. The national and State leadership have to think some innovative way. Odisha Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik is playing a different game - aligning with Central government on certain issues while fighting at State level to retain government. It is an art. We have to overcome this," he said.

'Positive vibes'
When asked if election of President Droupadi Murmu would help the party, Mr. Rao said, "the nomination has created a receptive situation among tribals for the party not only in Odisha, but also in entire country. The leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi has been promoting such positive vibes. Sustained efforts from the government and party will have definite bearing. It was a powerful messaging."

The senior leader, however, hoped for a positive voting for the party in Lok Sabha election. "Voters do vote differently keeping the strong leadership and State's interest at national level in mind. It was seen in last elections too," he said.

MDMK to protest against Shah's remarks on Hindi

'Party will not allow imposition in T.N.'

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

CHENNAI

MDMK general secretary Vaiko on Thursday criticised Union Home Minister Amit Shah's remarks linking Hindi and culture of India, stating Mr. Shah clearly did not have any knowledge on the Dravidian culture.

Addressing an event to mark the 114th birth anniversary of former Chief Minister C.N. Annadurai, he recalled that Anna opposed Hindi imposition and went to jail for four months in 1938.

He also recalled that a resolution was passed in the State Assembly against Hindi imposition in 1968.

Mr. Vaiko said his party would never allow the imposition of Hindi and Sanskrit in Tamil Nadu and that MDMK was organising a protest in Chennai on September 24. He urged the Central government to change its foreign policy towards Sri Lanka and stop supporting them.

Mr. Vaiko said India must ensure that the army was moved out from places where Tamils lived in Sri Lanka.

'Poll for Eelam'
He urged for an international poll on formation of a separate Tamil Eelam under the supervision of major nations, and said Tamils across the globe should be allowed to participate in the poll.

'Kerala govt. is attempting to legalise all illegalities'

Will not be a rubber stamp: Governor

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
KOTTAYAM

In a further hardening of his position against the State government over the new set of Bills passed by the Legislative Assembly, Kerala Governor Arif Mohammed Khan on Thursday accused the State government of attempting to 'legalise all illegalities' and clarified that he was not a mere rubber stamp.

To a query on the University Laws Amendment Bill, which aims to curtail the power of the Governor in the selection of Vice-Chancellors, Mr. Khan said he would not allow any attempt to dilute the autonomy of the universities. "I shall not allow executive interference in universities, which means government trying to take the power of appointment in its own hands, which will result in erosion of autonomy. Autonomy, as far as the universities are concerned, is a sacred concept."

The Governor also sought to know how he could permit the appointment of under-qualified and unqualified relatives of those in power.

"I had said earlier I will give up my Chancellor position. And I still do not want to continue but if I'm the Chancellor, I will not be a rubber stamp," he added.

Amidst protests, Karnataka passes anti-conversion Bill

It will be introduced in the Legislative Assembly later during this session

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
BENGALURU

Setting the stage for clearance of the Karnataka Right to Freedom of Religion Bill, the Legislative Council on Thursday passed the controversial legislation by voice vote amidst vociferous protest and walkout from Congress members.

High drama prevailed before the passage of the Bill, popularly called the anti-conversion Bill, as the ruling BJP and Opposition members sparred while some key questions asked by the Congress went unanswered. Despite repeated questions on the number of cases registered since the Ordinance was promulgated in May, Home Minister Araga Jnanaendra did not answer.

While Congress members

Making a point: Karnataka Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai speaking at the Legislative Council in Bengaluru on Thursday.

were on their feet with doubts yet to be clarified by the treasury benches, Chairman Raghunath Rao Malkaprasad put the Bill to vote, enraged the Congress members. As the Bill was being cleared with the BJP having majority in the Upper House, several Congress members, including Leader of the Opposition B.K. Hariprasad, raised slogans and tore copies of the Bill before walking out of the House. The Bill, which was passed in Legislative Assembly during the winter session in Belagavi in December, 2021, had not been cleared in the Upper House as the Opposition had protested its introduction at the last moment. The BJP, which did not have majority in the Council then, deferred its introduction twice early this year only to promulgate an Ordinance in May.

While the Council passed the Bill on Thursday, it will be introduced in the Legislative Assembly later during this session.

Defending the Bill, Mr. Jnanaendra said that there was no hidden agenda nor vote bank politics involved, and argued that the Bill was originally proposed by the Congress during Siddaramiah's regime.

SHIV SAHAY SINGH
KOLKATA

The CBI on Thursday arrested former West Bengal Board of Secondary Education president Kalyanamoy Ganguly in the School Service Commission recruitment scam.

He was at the helm for almost 10 years and the alleged irregularities took place during his tenure. After being questioned by the CBI on several occasions, the government recently removed him from the post.

In July, the Enforcement Directorate had arrested former Education Minister Partha Chatterjee in the recruitment scam.

A.P. govt. committed to idea of decentralisation'

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
GUNTUR

Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy has asserted that his government is committed to the idea of decentralisation and termed the maha padayatra taken out by Amaravati farmers as a "drama", and an "artificial agitation" for a Capital that could never be built.

"The agitation is being led by capitalist forces who had never fought against the bifurcation of the State. For over 1,000 days, a drama is being played out supporting an artificial agitation for a Capital which exists only in graphics," Mr. Jagan said while speaking during a short-term discussion on decentralisation on the opening day of the monsoon session at the Andhra Pradesh Assembly on Thursday.

"I would like to make it clear again. I do not have any animosity towards the Vijayawada-Guntur region. I have not taken out the Capital and in fact, Amaravati is one of the three Capitals and will be the seat of the Legislature. Even if I spend another ₹30,000 crore to ₹40,000 crore on this region with no basic infrastructure, I would never be able to provide even basic facilities. It is like chasing a wild dream," said Mr. Reddy.

STAFF REPORTER
THIRUVANANTHAPURAM

The Kerala government will launch an anti-rabies vaccination drive in the State from September 20 to inoculate dogs in 170 local bodies that have been identified as hotspots of dog bite cases, Animal Husbandry and Dairy Development Minister J. Chinchurani has said.

The local self-government institutions that have reported 10 or more dog bite cases in a month have been classified as hotspots.

Thiruvananthapuram has the highest number of hotspots with 28.

Palakkad has 26 hotspots, while Kollam and Alappuzha have 19 hotspots each.

"As many as two-lakh dogs have been administered anti-rabies vaccine since April. In addition, 1.2 lakh post-bite vaccinations have also been provided to animals," Ms. Chinchurani said at a press conference here on Thursday.

completed in six months.

In the initial phase of the demolition, the compound walls of the cottages are removed. Roofs of the buildings will be pulled down in the next stage.

"All the structures will be razed down in six months without using public money. The resort management will bear the entire cost of the operations," said District Collector V.R. Krishna Teja.

Poster war between Trinamool, BJP in Bengal Assembly

MLAs spar over alleged violence

SHIV SAHAY SINGH
KOLKATA

Amidst the war of words between the Trinamool Congress and the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), lawmakers from both parties targeted each other in a novel way using posters against each other in the West Bengal Assembly.

TMC MLAs display posters targeting LoP Suvendu Adhikari at the State Assembly on Thursday. ■ DEBABISH BHADURI

Mr. Adhikari has claimed that his arrest on September 13 during the BJP's 'March to Nabanna' was a violation of an 'order of Hon'ble Justice Rajesekhar Mantha, which wasn't interfered with by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India'.

No coercive action
The court had directed that there could be no coercive action against Mr. Adhikari.

Violence had erupted during the BJP's "march to Nabanna" and several BJP supporters and police personnel were injured. A police van was also set on fire in Kolkata. The Kolkata police on Thursday arrested seven more persons in connection with the attack on the police and setting the vehicle on fire.

Meanwhile, the recent developments have intensified the bitter political rivalry between Suvendu Adhikari and the Trinamool leaders. Mr. Adhikari was a key Minister in the Mamata Banerjee cabinet but switched to the BJP months before the 2021 Assembly polls.

House ruckus case: LDF seeks to change political narrative

The issue has constitutional dimensions, says party convener

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
THIRUVANANTHAPURAM

The Left Democratic Front (LDF) seems intent on changing the political narrative of the high-profile 2015 Kerala Assembly ruckus case.

LDF convener E.P. Jayarajan told reporters in Kannur that the Oommen Chandy government's skewed application of law had resulted in the erroneous prosecution of LDF leaders. Mr. Jayarajan hinted the case had Constitutional dimensions and was not merely a straightforward criminal prosecution.

The LDF protest in the House against the then Finance Minister K.M. Mani presenting the Budget in the Assembly was a political act. The legislators had no criminal intent.

E.P. Jayarajan

Moreover, the Chandy government had breached parliamentary privilege by trespassing on the Speaker's authority. It invited the police to interfere in Assembly matters, thereby diluting the power and eroding the status of the highest law-making body in the State.

Mr. Jayarajan said the Speaker had punished the MLAs by temporarily expelling them from the House.

However, the United Democratic Front (UDF) used the police to read a felonious motive into the political objection on the Assembly's floor.

Hence, the UDF government's politically-motivated and conspiratorial police action against LDF legislators was tantamount to double jeopardy.

Moreover, Mr. Jayarajan said Mr. Chandy's then government turned a blind eye to the violence unleashed by the ruling front legislators against Opposition members, including women, on the Budget presentation day. The police exempted the UDF members from their investigation at the behest of their political masters.

Mr. Jayarajan is an accused in the case.

The Qutb Shahi tombs complex dating back to 15th century has numerous tombs, funerary mosques, wells and gardens.

Solar scam accused seeks CBI probe

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
KOCCHI

The High Court of Kerala has issued notice to the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI), and the Central and State governments on a petition filed by solar scam accused demanding a probe into the role of 14 people, including former Chief Minister Oommen Chandy's son Chandy Oommen and a few Ministers in the Chandy-led Cabinet, in the alleged sexual exploitation of the petitioner.

She alleged that the probe so far covered the role of only four people.

The plea has been posted for hearing after two weeks. The case had earlier been probed by the Crime Branch.

New secretariat to be named after Ambedkar

Giving his name to the seat of power is a matter of pride to people: Telangana CM

HYDERABAD

The Telangana government has decided to name the new Secretariat complex under construction here after the father of Constitution B.R. Ambedkar.

Chief Minister K. Chandrasekhar Rao has asked Chief Secretary Somesh Kumar to take the necessary steps in the matter, a release from the Chief Minister's Office said.

Quoting Mr. Rao, the release said he considered giving Dr. Ambedkar's name to the seat of power in the State was a matter of pride to the people. The decision was a role model for the rest of the country.

The goals set by Dr. Ambedkar for the uplift of downtrodden in social, political, financial and cultural spheres was followed by the State government in its self-governance model.

Mr. Rao recalled that separate Telangana became a reality solely because of Article 3 in the Constitution which favoured smaller States. The State government ic character which Dr. Ambedkar visualised. The State drew inspiration from Dr. Ambedkar's idea that equal rights and opportunities would flow to all sections only in a federal setup.

Mr. Rao said the government would set up one more ideal before the country by giving the name of Dr. Ambedkar to the new Secretariat after having led from the front in all sectors and standing as a role model in a short period. Therefore, it was no casual demand of the State government through a resolution of Assembly to seek Ambedkar's name for the Central Vista project to house the new Parliament.

He also said he would write a letter to Prime Minister Narendra Modi to name the new Parliament after Dr. Ambedkar.

Curse of Goa

Mass defections undermine the electoral mandate

Eight of the Congress's 11 MLAs have merged with the ruling BJP, in the latest iteration of a Goan curse. The State has gained a particular notoriety for its politicians brazenly switching sides in utter disregard for the people's verdict. BJP Chief Minister Pramod Sawant has succeeded in splitting the Goa Congress twice in three years. In the previous Assembly, 15 of the 17 Congress MLAs left the party, a majority of them for the BJP. In the February Assembly election, the Congress fielded a large number of newcomers. All 37 of its candidates had twice taken a 'loyalty pledge' once with leader Rahul Gandhi, in a temple, a church and a dargah, and signed affidavits vowing not to defect. All the gods could do little to prick the conscience of these MLAs who betrayed the mandate. If anything, all that drama only made this latest episode of the curse that much more of a mockery of democracy. It is not that Goa is the only place where this happens – in Bihar, the recent realignment in which the JD(U) replaced the BJP with the RJD as its partner amounted to dishonouring the popular verdict. Bihar was a rare instance of the BJP being at the receiving end of its own strategy.

The party has swung back, and in style, in Goa, though it did not need any more MLAs to be in power. In the 40-member strong Assembly, it had 20 MLAs of its own and support from three independents and two MLAs of the Maharashtra Wadi Gomantak Party (MGP). With the merger of eight Congress MLAs, the government now has the support of 33. The Congress has lost its capacity to be an effective opposition. This was in the making for months now, and the Congress had tried to avert it. As soon as it got wind of the move, the Congress removed Michael Lobo from the post of Leader of the Opposition in the Assembly and Digambar Kamat from his position of being a permanent invitee to the Congress Working Committee (CWC). While both Mr. Lobo and Mr. Kamat have cited disaffection with the Congress high command as reasons, the true reasons are all too transparent. Despite serving as a Congress CM, Mr. Kamat, a seven-time MLA from Margao, has a history of being with the BJP as he was one of the four BJP MLAs who won in 1994. In 2014, the BJP had linked him with a multi-crore mining scam case, whose probe is still hanging over his head. BJP Minister Viswajit Rane had called for an investigation into Mr. Lobo's assets. Mr. Lobo and his wife Delilah are among the richest MLAs in the coastal State. With the defections of Aleixo Sequeira and Rodolfo Fernandes, the BJP now has a strong foothold in the Catholic-dominated South Goa. Mr. Kamat has said he went back to the temple and got the god's permission to renege on his pledge of loyalty to the Congress. The people of Goa, meanwhile, are left wondering whether their vote makes any difference.

Arbitrary, exclusionary

Even if EWS quota is upheld, eligibility will have to be properly defined

A Constitution Bench led by Chief Justice of India U.U. Lalit is now examining the validity of the 103rd Constitutional Amendment, which provides for 10% reservation to the economically weaker sections (EWS), excluding Other Backward Classes, Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes who already have reservation in higher education institutions and government jobs. The Bench has finalised three issues for hearing – whether the amendment has breached the Constitution's basic structure by permitting the state to make special provisions; whether it does so in relation to admissions to private unaided institutions and, lastly, if the exclusion of OBC/SC/ST communities from the scope of the quota tramples on the basic structure. These are valid questions and it could be argued that the legislation of the reservation in 2019 was done hastily without due diligence of the criteria adopted. For example, the setting of an annual family income of ₹8 lakh as a ceiling to determine if someone belongs to the EWS is clearly problematic. If available consumer expenditure surveys such as the NSSO report, 'Key Indicators of Household Consumer Expenditure, 2011-12', are relied on, a large chunk of the population will be eligible for reservations in the "below Rs. 8 lakh" EWS category and not just the truly deserving sections of the poor. A government-appointed committee submitted that this ceiling was reasonable, but it could not adequately explain how the income criterion was "more stringent" than the one for the OBC creamy layer. Also, the ₹8 lakh figure did not correspond to any data on the estimated number of EWS persons in the population with incomes related to it.

Petitioners have also argued that the net effect of the exclusion of Backward Classes and SC/ST aspirants from the EWS has been that they are now denied an opportunity to compete in the general category to the extent of 10%, in effect, limiting the quota to the "forward classes". This is a valid argument. Even if the Court agrees to maintain that reservations can be provided on economic basis – something that has been explicitly denied so far with only social and educational backwardness being mentioned in the Constitution and reiterated in several judgments – excluding people of certain communities from this benefit despite their belonging to the EWS renders the legislation discriminatory. In recent recruitment and entrance examinations such as the UPSC and JEE, marks cut-offs for admissions were lower for the EWS quota than that of the OBCs. In essence, if an income criterion for identifying the economically weaker sections has to be the basis, it must arrive at a clearly determined figure for the limit unlike the ₹8 lakh figure, and all sections of society, irrespective of caste, should be eligible to avail of reservation under this category.

Parliamentary business and an essential pit stop

Referring Bills to the Department Related Parliamentary Standing Committees does help the process of lawmaking

DESH DEEPAK VERMA

It was heartening to have the recently concluded monsoon session of Parliament (July-August), even though it was adjourned sine die on August 8, 2022, witnessing the Competition (Amendment) Bill, 2022 and the Electricity (Amendment) Bill, 2022 being sent to the Standing Committee of Parliament for detailed examination and a report thereon.

This is a significant step in light of the fact that Parliament had only limited legislative time this session and could pass only five pieces of legislation. This has also come in the wake of constant criticism by the Opposition that has been alleging that the Government has been trying to steamroll various pieces of legislation in the last few sessions. The worry of the Government has been that so much time is lost in disruptions in Parliament that the legislative process, as it is, becomes unduly delayed and therefore, referring the bills to the Standing Committees may be counterproductive – that could only add to this delay.

Relevant parliamentary data
The functioning of the monsoon session of Parliament this year bears testimony to this fact: the Lok Sabha's productivity was 47% and the Rajya Sabha only 42%. It may be mentioned here that Parliament has 24 Department Related Parliamentary Standing Committees (DRSC), comprising members of the Parliament of both the Lok Sabha and the Rajya Sabha in the ratio 2:1, which are duly constituted by the Speaker of the Lok Sabha and the Chairman of the Rajya Sabha, jointly.

The mandate of these committees is to examine various legislations referred to it, the budget proposals of different Ministries, and also to do policy thinking on the vision, mission and future direction of the Ministries concerned. The objective of this article is to examine whether these committees have been able to achieve their stated objectives, and if not or if done inadequately, what the corrective actions could be to increase their efficacy and their relevance.

The percentage of Bills having been referred to the DRSCs during the tenures of the 14th (2004-2009), 15th (2009-2014) and 16th Lok Sabhas (2014-2019) has been 60%, 71% and 27%, respectively. The fall in this percentage during the 16th Lok Sabha was witnessed largely in the second half of its session, when the Government was in a hurry to push its big ticket reforms through and the Opposition was equally adamant to stall it in view of high stakes involved in the 2019 elections.

Committee versus Parliament
Even though it is not obligatory for the Government to agree to refer each Bill to the DRSC, the experience, both nationally and internationally, has been that referring a Bill to the DRSC has been of use to the process of lawmaking. It has been alleged that Bills which are not being referred to the parliamentary committees, are not examined properly, especially from the perspective of consumers and stakeholders and remain just a bureaucratically conceived piece of legislation. As proof of this, the case of the three Farm Bills is cited as they were passed without being referred to the DRSC and had to be withdrawn later.

Even though there could be many reasons for the withdrawal of the three Farm Bills – some of it political – it needs to be understood that the examination of the Bills by the parliamentary committees is more to the benefit of the Government than the Opposition. The simple reason for this is that the tenor and the ambience of the discussions in the parliamentary committee and in Parliament are two entirely different things. The committee meetings are in camera and, therefore, the meetings are held in a comparatively congenial atmosphere of bonhomie and cordiality than they would be in Parliament.

The deliberations in these committees mostly add value to the content of the legislation and, more often than not, the Members, their party positions notwithstanding, try to reach a consensus. Additionally, such pieces of legislation after examination in the committees, have some sort of ownership of the members of the committee, both from the ruling side and the Opposition, even though it is also a function of the skill of the chairman of the committee.

Governments and the ruling party should not be wary of these committees, as in most of these committees, the government has a majority and the final decision is always by the process of majority voting. Therefore, there is no reason why any government should shy away from referring Bills to the committee. Skilled and experienced Ministers know this and generally have no aversion to a Bill being referred to the committee.

Second, all discussions in the Parliamentary Standing Committee should be frank and free. For this, it may be provided that during the discussions of the committee meetings, no whip of the party would apply to them. In any case, they have the liberty to vote in favour or against the Bill in Parliament.

Third, the committees can be given a fixed timeline to come up with the recommendation and present its report which can be decided by the Speaker/Chairman. The committees mostly abide by this direction of the Speaker/Chairman. But to deal with just political exigencies, it can be provided that in case the committee fails to give its recommendation within the approved/extended time, the Bill may be put up before the House concerned directly.

Fourth, to ensure quality work in the committees, experts in the field may be invited who could bring with them the necessary domain knowledge and also help introduce the latest developments and trends in that field from worldwide. It would be value for money if some subject matter experts/young researchers could be associated with the committee for a short period.

Fifth, the Speaker/Chairman should have the right to fix a time limit, sometimes even stringent, if the government of the day asks for it and the demand is found to be reasonable by the Speaker/Chairman.

Sixth, between two sessions, there is generally enough time to organise committee meetings for discussions on Bills in the parliamentary committees. Sometimes, the government and the committee chairmen are lax in this respect, and then try to push through these pieces of legislation when the next session is announced. Hence, it is important for the Ministry of Parliamentary Affairs to keep an eye on this and, in collaboration with the committee chairmen, get these parliamentary works organised during the inter-sessional period, in advance.

Seventh and last, when it comes to the budget proposals of the Ministries, the committees should not limit themselves to discussing just the budget proposals and endorsing them with a few qualifications here or amendments there. They should also come up with suggestions for the Ministry to take up new initiatives and people-friendly measures.

The outcome of the 'Grand Challenge 1', a tender for electric buses, is an innovative model for India and the world

MAHUA ACHARYA

India's procurement of 5,450 electric buses and subsequent increase in ambition to have 50,000 e-buses on the country's roads by 2030 represent the immense potential for progress on climate and development goals through close collaboration between the Union and State governments. With the shared aim to rapidly electrify a key pillar of India's public transportation, recent governance efforts have created a new business model for e-buses. If this sector is further developed, it can reduce air pollution in cities and fuel import bills, improve the balance sheets of State transport companies, and spur domestic manufacturing and job creation.

State of State-owned buses
There are currently around 1,40,000 registered public buses on India's roads, with large numbers of them having sputtering engines that spew planet-warming fumes into the atmosphere. At least 40,000 of these buses are at the end of their lifespan and must be taken off the roads immediately.

However, most buses are owned and operated by State trans-sport undertakings, which are in poor financial health. In part, they incur large losses because they play an important social function by providing subsidised fares to crores of Indians each day. With a few exceptions such as Mumbai's Brihanmumbai Electric Supply & Transport Undertaking (BEST) of the Brihanmumbai Mahanagarpalika, when State transport undertakings go to the market to buy buses, they face problems of fragmented demand and high prices. Furthermore, there are limitations to nation-wide action on this issue as State governments control issues such as transit, urban governance and pollution control.

A success story

Until recently, there had never been a unified tender to address some of these challenges. Cooperative federalism can easily become a fraught issue. However, in the case of the Grand Challenge 1, a tender for 5,450 buses (across five major Indian cities – Kolkata, Delhi, Bengaluru, Hyderabad and Surat), the opposite happened. Instead of a race to the bottom, the respective expertise, strengths and needs of Union Ministries and States informed the process and the successful outcomes.

Convergence Energy Services Limited (CESL), a nodal agency of the Union government, acted as the programme manager in this effort at centralised procurement in concert, with State-led demand and customisation. Coordination between a range of Union government Ministries and State governments standardised demand conditions across these five cities and discovered prices that beat the increasingly outmoded internal combustion engines.

On a cost-per-kilometre basis, the prices discovered were 40% lower than diesel and 34% less than CNG (without factoring in the subsidy through FAME-II). A note on FAME: the Faster Adoption and Manufacturing of (Hybrid & Electric Vehicles in India (FAME-India) Scheme was launched under the National Mission on Electric Mobility in 2011/National Electric Mobility Mission Plan 2020, and unveiled in 2013. The scheme encourages the progressive induction of reliable, affordable and efficient electric and hybrid vehicles.

With high fuel prices and energy security challenges in the wake of the war in Ukraine, the switch to electric vehicles appears even more sensible and lucrative.

This inflection point in unit economics was enabled by three key factors: collaboration, pace and transparency. First, the tender itself was a fully consultative process and varied contributions by participants already influenced the design of future tenders. Second, there was a shared sense of urgency that shaped this collaboration, which leveraged the bureaucracy's power when working on time-bound and measurable schemes and increased receptivity to creative and new ideas. Finally, transparency was the most resilient quality of a public process. From the outset, there was clarity about the intention to engender trust and build a publicly available process and tender that invited bids from automakers and operators.

In the wake of the first tender, it was incredibly gratifying to share a feeling of success with five States, five Transport Ministers, five State Secretaries and the heads of a range of State transport undertakings, each of whom had played a part in the process.

To be clear, excessive centralisation can have limitations and contradict the federal principles enshrined in the Constitution. For instance, India's States and districts vary vastly in their vulnerability to climate impacts, and decentralised decision-making and locally-led adaptation will help reduce potential damage to lives and livelihoods. Urban local bodies and gram panchayats can be the heart of climate action.

However, in certain areas where India must move the needle quickly or where States lack size and financial clout, such as the electrification of mass mobility, centralised procurement and programme management can deliver architectural transformations rather than just incremental transitions.

There is much work ahead

Although a good start has been made, much work remains to be done to enable the electrification of mass mobility in India. The country's shift to clean public transportation will require a suite of efforts, from ramping up manufacturing capacity to domestic battery production to building out charging infrastructure (ideally plugged in to a grid powered by renewables) to capacity building of State transport undertakings to developing financial instruments and structures.

Nonetheless, the progress we have made on electric bus tendering is a harbinger of climate action made possible by cooperative federalism. As India now ramps up its demand to deploy 50,000 buses across 40 cities, it will need to continue the spirit of true inter-ministerial and Union-State collaboration to fulfil its ambitious targets for green and inclusive economic development. The combined clout and strength of the federal compact can enable large strides being made towards innovative models that not only improve transit, the quality of life in cities and progress towards national climate goals but also build models for the rest of the world to emulate.

Flip-flops, Goan style

By jumping ship, the eight Congress MLAs in Goa have administered a severe shock to the party (Page 1, "Congress meltdown in Goa as 8 MLAs defect to BJP", September 15). It is not only the oath the defectors had taken before god, at a temple, a dargah and a church, but also political etiquette and democratic values that have gone for a toss in the coastal State. The developments are also an indicator of the serious shortcomings in the fire-fighting mechanism within the Congress party. One aspect is clear. It appears that the key national party is trying to unsettle the Grand Old Party by the time the GOP finishes its all-India padayatra.

V. JOHAN DHANAKUMAR,
Chennai

■ The accompanying visual in the report, which shows unconcealed glee written on the faces of the MLAs who have defected, is enough to leave any reader disgusted and shocked. The MLAs have betrayed their electoral mandate and have conveniently joined the national party concerned for personal benefits. It is a pity that such selfish and greedy persons who are besotted with power and money have been elected lawmakers. Voters are also helpless and responsible for such unscrupulous happenings. Voters need to teach such

MLAs a lesson they will never forget.

D. SETHURAMAN,
Chennai

■ The political development is also a blow against the Congress's Bharat Jodo Yatra'. Those who matter in the party will find it hard to explain why the party that is on a lofty mission to unite India cannot even hold its flock together under trying circumstances. Disgruntled senior party leaders and power-hungry legislators are the twin challenges that the Congress faces in its battle for survival. The new Congress president will have to identify unscrupulous fortune seekers masquerading as loyal workers and weed them out.

With mass defections to the BJP having become rampant, any election and its outcome is now irrelevant. The Bharatiya Janata Party has proved that it will form governments wherever and whenever it wants irrespective of the election result.

The bitter irony now is that people who venture to vote for non-BJP candidates eventually end up backing a party that they did not choose to vote for.

Hindi use

The Union Home Minister appears to have stirred up controversy with his statements on Hindi use; they may have the unintended consequence of resurrecting anti-Hindi sentiments in the southern States. Many in India have begun to realise that English use is a window to the larger world. English is a key means of communication in an increasingly globalised world. What the Minister should have focused on or advised his colleague who looks after Education is to step up outlay on education and ensure that schools in India reach modern standards in terms of facilities. All efforts should be directed towards quality education for all. Creating controversy and generating resentment against certain languages are unnecessary.

M.P. MURALIDHARAN,

■ One fails to get the import of what the Minister means when he says that speaking to children in their mother tongue would lead to an effortless learning of Hindi. One also wonders why there is a move by the Centre to push Hindi use in offices and banks abroad. There are serious issues that require the attention of the Government. Why is the Home Minister so worried about Hindi use?

Should India choose manufacturing over services?

PARLEY

Manufacturing can create higher productivity jobs; but India's limited state capacity is a risk

Earlier this week, the former Governor of the Reserve Bank of India, Raghuram Rajan, questioned the Central government's production-linked incentive (PLI) scheme, arguing that it works against the interests of Indian consumers. In doing so, he revived the larger debate on the government's efforts to promote the country's manufacturing sector through subsidies, and on its relative importance vis-a-vis the services sector. Ajay Shah and Nagesh Kumar discuss this issue and talk about creating enabling conditions, in a discussion moderated by Prashanth Perumal J. Edited excerpts:

Should government policy focus on promoting any particular sector of the economy?

Ajay Shah: I'm sceptical of the state bureaucracy being able to understand and anticipate which sectors will do well and which sectors will do badly. It is very difficult to forecast the future. Only risk-taking entrepreneurs can take speculative bets, such as saying the computer hardware industry or automobile component manufacturing will do well in India. Who could have predicted that two-wheelers in India would fight off foreign competition pretty well while dozens of other manufacturing businesses would get butchered by foreign competition? It is not feasible for officials in bureaucracies to look at the industrial landscape and make speculative calls. That's because they do not have the necessary information or the forecasting ability. Nor do they have the incentive, like private businesses do. Also, there is nobody to protect them if their speculation goes wrong; when their speculation goes wrong, they will be investigated by the Central Bureau of Investigation and the Enforcement Directorate. So, which official is ever going to take a risk? For all these reasons, the task of figuring out which sector to focus on is best left to the private sector. The job of the government is to create a broad enabling environment.

Should India focus on manufacturing over services?

NK: So far, in services, we have certainly developed some advantage and we are doing rather well. Services' share of the economy has gone up to over 50% of the GDP. However, this sector has not been able to create enough jobs in a commensurate manner. The result is that agriculture still continues to sustain nearly half of India's workforce, which means that 15% of GDP is supporting some 45% of the workforce. We need more productive job opportunities for the workforce to shift away from agriculture. We need to focus attention on the manufacturing sector because of the direct and indirect jobs that it can create. It is an empirical fact that manufacturing of all productive sectors has the highest backward and forward linkages. So, all together, there is significant potential for the manufacturing sector to create higher productivity jobs for people stuck in agricultural activities. That is the future for India.

Nagesh Kumar: I have a slightly

C When we are trying to revive our economy, we need to persuade investors to invest. And for that, some incentivisation is important.

roding state capacity.

Aren't schemes like the PLI prone to the risk of cronyism?

NK: It is possible that the PLI would lead to some kind of cronyism. But when subsidies are linked to performance, there is little room for discretion. There are objective criteria which have been defined, such as you getting a certain percentage in incentive if you perform better than last year. And of course, one can have third-party verification of performance to minimise misuse. Also, as we go along, we can tighten the criteria further to things such as export performance, competitiveness and innovation. So, it is possible to have an incentive system and achieve most of the objectives without major problems.

AS: If you read the details of the PLI policy framework and the industries that it applies to, of course it is subject to many discretionary decisions. There are always pushes and pulls. When these frameworks are established, only large firms are able to do the hard work of pounding the corridors of power, and engaging with the government, filling in all the forms and getting these benefits. If there are structural problems, it's better to go to the root cause and solve it because then everybody benefits, every company – large or small, domestic or outward oriented – benefits from a more rational policy environment. If there is a mistake in the GST (Goods and Services Tax), solve it; if there is a mistake in the Companies Act, solve it; if there is a mistake in income tax treatment, solve it. I don't buy it when people say electricity is expensive in India or labour is cheap. The competitive advantage of operating in India is that labour is cheap. But it doesn't mean everything has to be cheap. There will be a variety of inputs that goes into an industry and each firm has to figure out whether it is competitive to operate in India. What policymakers should focus on is just mistakes of public policy. We should focus on things like the way the Companies Act works, the way Indian capital controls work, the way income tax works, the way GST works, etc.

Shouldn't the government liberalise all sectors and let market forces decide outcomes?

NK: The sectors that have been selected by the government include some of the new sunrise sectors, such as the semiconductor industry, which are highly import-dependent. The feeling is that we can make some of these things in India as part of a domestic industrialisation drive. Industries have been chosen based on where there is an opportunity to create new industries or reduce the dependence on imports, or where there are high spillovers or linkages to other sectors. So, industries benefiting from these subsidies have not been randomly chosen. Of course, one could argue that there are also other sectors that merit subsidies, but one has to start somewhere. The start would obviously be from the most promising sectors and sunrise sectors which are coming up. I don't think these sectors have been selected to benefit a particular individual. You could find one or two of them, but most represent opportunities that India should be exploiting at this moment.

AS: I remain sceptical, as economic policymakers do not have a crystal ball to know the future. In India's history, the decisions of some of the most respected thinkers and policymakers, when it comes to favouring this or that sector, have proved to be wrong. So I just don't find it persuasive that we have the forecasting capacity. It is risky, it is speculative, and the word speculative appropriately belongs in the private sector. You want to trade on the stock market? I'm all for sophisticated discussion on that. Should we be buying the stocks of a labour-intensive garment company? Or should we be buying the shares of an electronics manufacturing company? That's a discussion for private speculators to have; it's not a discussion for people in public policy. And I just want to come back to the argument that since in the U.S. there is the CHIPS Act, that justifies a similar policy in India. I have two problems with that. First, as Ashok Desai stated, 'Every bad idea has been adopted in at least one good country.' For example, because they have agricultural subsidies in Europe, you will argue that we should have agricultural subsidies in India. That's a slippery slope. We should always be able to argue things from first principles. And then remember the magnitude of the numbers we are comparing. When you look at the European agriculture subsidy divided by European GDP, it's nothing. Whereas here, in India, if you think of a trillion dollars of exports, and then 6% of that, it's taking a significant chunk out of the tiny amount of tax revenues of the Indian state.

NK: I don't buy this argument. Until a policy has been implemented, how will you know if it is right or wrong? When we are trying to revive our economy, and we want the investment cycle to pick up, we need to persuade investors to invest. And for that, some incentivisation is important, especially in the context of other countries offering incentives. If we don't offer incentives, we do so at our own peril. So, we need to be vigilant. It is an open economy context that we are working in; it is not a closed economy context any more. So, we have to see what others are doing. And if you don't, all the investments of chip manufacturers will simply go to the U.S. or Taiwan. Wherever they get more incentives, they will go, and we won't get any of them. So, I feel that what has been done through the PLI, and the current focus of the government to promote the manufacturing sector, is the right thing to do at this moment.

A dilemma over blood donation

Not taking sides and not getting involved is an art that journalists have to master

BINDU SHAJAN PERAPPADAN

"How many of you here volunteer to donate blood?" This question wouldn't have drawn any attention in, say, an emergency hospital setting, but it was unexpected at a press conference. The person asking the question was a Central government Minister, who had just announced a series of 'humanitarian programmes' to mark Prime Minister Narendra Modi's 70th birthday celebrations on September 17.

The act of donating blood is undoubtedly noble as it helps save lives. Most blood donors do this voluntarily. But for journalists sitting there, the question suddenly threw up a dilemma. We were there to report the programmes being announced, not volunteer to participate in them. Some of us wondered, how much involvement with a story is too much? Should we become part of the news that we were reporting? And what causes demand a journalist to switch roles from reporter to someone involved in the story? The tussle between professional ethics and empathy, though these categories are not mutually exclusive, is something journalists face with every story.

The blood donation programme, to be organised by the Union Health Ministry, aims to bring over one lakh units of blood into blood banks across the country. As soon as he made the announcement, the Minister wanted a show of hands to know how many would be willing to be part of this donation. Following the question, hands shot up and some judgmental eyes scanned the room, which was packed with reporters and Ministry staff. The Minister presented the programme as "our" contribution to the humanitarian work being done by the Prime Minister.

It is true that the line between reporter and subject gets crossed sometimes and the heart does take over the head. Reporters sometimes sit down to wipe the tears of their interviewees. Many of my reporter friends have emptied their purses and lunch boxes for their interviewees. Some have even been advocates of causes, asking higher authorities to help a person or group.

But does that allow us to do our job of reporting 'as it is'? More important, is there a correct answer to these questions? In this context, who did the right thing: the journalists who raised their hands or those who did not?

In a world where the form and flavour of news is rapidly changing, choices also make news. The famous example of this is the South African photojournalist Kevin Carter. Carter photographed 'The Struggling Girl', which showed a child, later revealed to be a boy, slumped on dry grass in hunger, while being watched keenly by a vulture. Carter won a Pulitzer Prize for the photograph. But he found himself, not the child, being the subject of discussion, with people asking why he did not help the emaciated child.

This dilemma is often at the heart of human-interest stories that journalists report, whether big or small. Our professional ethics demand that we report honestly, accurately and without manipulating the story, getting involved with the subject or taking sides. Besides this, reporters often work with the handicap of not being aware of the entire story when we walk into one.

Listening to our gut feeling and thinking with our heart is what we often do initially, but training and experience thankfully kick in soon enough. Not taking sides and not getting involved is an art that journalists have to master. Forcing someone on a job to take a side or get involved isn't a welcome move.

Will Iran make a comeback?

On the sidelines of the Shanghai Cooperation Organization (SCO) summit, Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Iranian President Ebrahim Raisi are likely to discuss the revival of oil imports from Iran. After the U.S. ended waivers that allowed the import of crude from Iran without sanctions, India stopped buying oil from Iran in FY19. In the immediate years before the ban, Iran was India's third biggest source of crude oil. In fact, between FY07 to FY09 Iran was the second biggest source after Saudi Arabia. Interestingly, after Iran's exit, India filled the void by importing oil from the U.S., the country which initiated the sanctions. However, in FY23, the U.S.'s share in India's oil imports halved and Russia became the third-biggest source. Russia's share in India's crude oil imports was close to 14% in FY23. Notably, the last time Russia's share was this high was in the late 1980s when it was still part of the Soviet Union. With international crude oil prices soaring, local consumption of petroleum products back to pre-pandemic levels and the U.S. calling for sanctions against Russia, Iran may make a comeback as a major oil partner for India. ### EXPLAINER

The Eastern Economic Forum and India's balancing act

What are the benefits of investing in the Russian Far East? Which all countries are currently investing in the region?

THE GIST

AVISHKA ASHOK

■ The Eastern Economic Forum was established in 2015 to encourage foreign investments in Russia's Far East. As of 2022, almost 2,729 investment projects are being planned in the region.

■ During the forum, Prime Minister Narendra Modi expressed the country's readiness in expanding trade, connectivity and investments in Russia. India is keen to deepen its cooperation in energy, pharmaceuticals, maritime connectivity, healthcare, tourism, the diamond industry and the Arctic.

■ India has vested interests in both the EEF and the Indo-Pacific Economic Framework and has worked towards balancing its involvement. The IPEF is a vital platform for India to strengthen its presence in the Indo-Pacific region.

The story so far: Russia hosted the seventh Eastern Economic Forum (EEF) Vladivostok from September 5 to 8. The four-day forum is a platform for entrepreneurs to expand their businesses into Russia's Far East (RFE).

What is the Eastern Economic Forum? The EEF was established in 2015 to encourage foreign investments in the RFE. The EEF displays the economic potential, suitable business conditions and investment opportunities in the region. Agreements signed at the EEF increased from 217 in 2017 to 380 agreements in 2021, worth 3.6 trillion roubles. As of 2022, almost 2,729 investment projects are being planned in the region. The agreements focus on infrastructure, transportation projects, mineral excavations, construction, industry and agriculture.

Who are the major actors in the Forum? What are their interests?

This year, the Forum aimed at connecting the Far East with the Asia Pacific region. China is the biggest investor in the region as it sees potential in promoting the Chinese Belt and Road Initiative and the Polar Sea Route in the RFE. China's investments in the region account for 90% of the total investments. Russia has been welcoming Chinese investments since 2015; more now than ever due to the economic pressures caused by the war in Ukraine. The Trans-Siberian Railway has further helped Russia and China in advancing trade ties. The countries share a 4000-kilometer-long border, which enables them to tap into each other's resources with some infrastructural assistance. China is also looking to develop its Heilongjiang province which connects with the RFE. China and Russia have invested in a fund to develop northeastern China and the RFE, through collaborations on connecting the cities of Blagoveshchensk and Heihe via a 1,080 metre bridge, supplying natural gas, and a rail bridge connecting the cities of Nizhnemelinskoye and Tongjiang.

Besides China, South Korea has also been gradually increasing its investments in the region. South Korea has invested in shipbuilding projects, manufacturing of electrical equipment, gas-liquefying plants, agricultural production and fisheries. In 2017, the Export-Import Bank of Korea and the Far East Development Fund announced their intention to inject $2 billion in the RFE in a span of three years.

Japan is another key trading partner in the Far East. In 2017, Japanese investments through 21 projects amounted to $16 billion. Under Shinzo Abe's leadership, Japan identified eight areas of economic cooperation and pushed private businesses to invest in the development of the RFE. Japan seeks to depend on Russian oil and gas resources after the 2011 meltdown in Fukushima which led the government to pull out of nuclear energy. Japan also sees a market for its agro-technologies which have the potential to flourish in the RFE, given similar climatic conditions. However, the momentum of trade that existed with Shinzo Abe was lost with the leadership of Yoshihide Suga and Fumio Kishida. The trade ties between Japan and Russia are hindered by the Kuril Islands dispute as they are claimed by both countries.

India seeks to expand its influence in the RFE. During the forum, Prime Minister Narendra Modi expressed the country's readiness in expanding trade, connectivity and investments in Russia. India is keen to deepen its cooperation in energy, pharmaceuticals, maritime connectivity, healthcare, tourism, the diamond industry and the Arctic.

In 2019, India also offered a $1 billion line of credit to develop infrastructure in the region. Through the EEF, India aims to establish a strong inter-state interaction with Russia. Business representatives of Gujarat and the Republic of Sakha have launched agreements in the diamond and pharmaceuticals industry.

What does the EEF aim for?

The primary objective of the EEF is to increase the Foreign Direct Investments in the RFE. The region encompasses one-third of Russia's territory and is rich with natural resources such as fish, oil, natural gas, wood, diamonds and other minerals. The sparse population living in the region is another factor for encouraging people to move and work in the Far East. The region's riches and resources contribute to five per cent of Russia's GDP. But despite the abundance and availability of materials, procuring and supplying them is an issue due to the unavailability of personnel.

The RFE is geographically placed at a strategic location; acting as a gateway into Asia. The Russian government has strategically developed the region with the aim of connecting Russia to the Asian trading routes. With the fast modernisation of cities like Vladivostok, Khabarovsk, Ulan-Ude, Chita and more, the government aims to attract more investments in the region. Russia is trying to attract the Asian economies in investing and developing the far east. The Ukraine war is a worrying issue as it affects the economic growth of the country. However, Russia believes that it can survive the economic crisis and the sanctions with the help of China and other Asian powers.

Although, the EEF is an annual gathering, the forum comes at an opportune time for Russia who is dealing with the impact of the sanctions. Moreover, the coming together of countries like Myanmar, Armenia, Russia, and China seems like the forming of an anti-sanctions group in the international order.

Will India be able to achieve a balance between the EEF and the Indo-Pacific Economic Framework for Prosperity (IPEF)?

The U.S.-led Indo-Pacific Economic Framework for Prosperity (IPEF) and the EEF are incomparable based on its geographic coverage and the partnership with the host-countries. India has vested interests in both the forums and has worked towards balancing its involvement. India has not shied away from investing in the Russia-initiated EEF despite the current international conditions.

At the same time, India has given its confirmation and acceptance to three of the four pillars in the IPEF. The country understands the benefits of being involved in the development in the RFE but it also perceives the IPEF as a vital platform to strengthen its presence in the Indo-Pacific region. The IPEF also presents an ideal opportunity for India to act in the region, without being part of the China-led Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership or other regional grouping like the

Source: Data from Eastern Economic Forum, forumvostok.ru

Comprehensive and Progressive Agreement for Trans-Pacific Partnership .

The IPEF will also play a key role in building resilient supply chains. India's participation in the forum will help in disengaging from supply chains that are dependent on China and will also make it a part of the global supply chain network. Additionally, the IPEF partners will act as new sources of raw material and other essential products, further reducing India's reliance on China for raw materials. Although, Mr. Modi has refrained from full participation in the trade pillar of the IPEF, it does not signify an end to India's role in the forum.

Tamil Nadu's new breakfast scheme in schools

How has the history of the idea of nutrition in school schemes progressed so far?

T. RAMAKRISHNAN

The story so far: Tamil Nadu Chief Minister M. K. Stalin on Thursday, at the Madurai Corporation Primary School Aathimoolam II in Simmakal, Madurai, launched the Chief Minister's Breakfast Scheme for students of Class I to V in government schools. The scheme covers around 1.14 lakh students in 1,545 schools which include 417 municipal corporation schools, 163 municipality schools and 728 taluk and village panchayat-level schools. A sum of ₹33.56 crore has been set apart for the scheme. The inauguration of the scheme marks an important milestone in the State's history of providing free meals to school students.

How has the idea evolved?

In November 1920, the Madras (now Chennai) Corporation Council approved a proposal for providing tiffin to the students of a Corporation School at Thousand Lights at a cost not exceeding one anna per student per day. P. Theagaraya Chetty, the then President of the Corporation (the modern-day equivalent of Mayor) and one of the stalwarts of the Justice Party, said the boys studying at the school were poor, which affected the strength of the institution 'greatly'. The scheme, which was extended to four more schools and facilitated higher enrollment of students, suffered a setback in 1925 when the British government disallowed the expenditure on the supply of mid-day meals to students from the Elementary Education Fund. It was revived two years later, benefitting around 1,000 poor students in 25 schools.

The concept saw a State-wide application in 1956 when the then Chief Minister K. Kamaraj decided to provide free noon meal to poor children in all primary schools across the State. The Budget for 1956-57 contained a provision for supplying mid-day meals to schoolchildren for 200 days a year, initially covering 65,000 students in 1,300 feeding centres.

In July 1982, it was left to the then Chief Minister M. G. Ramachandran to extend the programme to children in the 2-5 age group in Anganwadis and those in 5-9 age group in primary schools in rural areas. Subsequently, the scheme – now called Puratchi Thalaivar M.G.R. Nutritious Meal Programme – was extended to urban areas as well. Since September 1984, students of standards VI to X have been covered under the scheme.

Over the years, there have been improvements to the programme. M.

Karunanidhi, as Chief Minister during the short-lived Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam Ministry (1989-91), introduced the provision of boiled eggs once every fortnight, starting June 1989. His successor, Jayalalithaa, in March 2013, extended the scheme by including variety meals along with masala eggs as per the children's choice.

What are the number of beneficiaries of the programme?

As of now, there are nearly 46.7 lakh beneficiaries spread over 43,190 nutritious meal centres. This includes around 3,500 students of National Child Labour Project (NCLP) special schools. The State budget for 2022-23 has provided around ₹2,077 crore for the nutritious meal programme.

Besides, as a consequence of the collaborative implementation of the Integrated Child Development Scheme (ICDS) and the nutritious meal programme, around 15.8 lakh children in the age group of 2+ to 5+ years receive nutritious meals.

What was the impact of the mid-day meal scheme on school education?

After the improved version of the mid-day meal scheme in 1982, the Gross Enrollment Ratio (GER) at primary level (standards I to V) went up by 10% during July-September, 1982 as compared to the corresponding period in 1981.

The rise in boys' enrollment was 12% and in the case of girls, 7%, according to a publication brought out by the Tamil Nadu government on the occasion of the launch of the Chief Minister's Breakfast Scheme.

Likewise, attendance during July-September 1982 rose by 33% over the previous year's figure.

Kamaraj - An Era (2008), a biography authored by senior Congress functionary A. Gopanna, states that after the inauguration of the mid-day meal scheme in 1956, the number of primary schools went up from 15,800 in 1957 to 29,000 in 1962.

Where should the programme focus more?

Anaemia is a major health problem in Tamil Nadu, especially among women and children, says the 2019-21 National Family Health Survey (NFHS)-5's report. From 50% during the period of the 2015-16 NFHS-4, the prevalence of anaemia in children now went up to 57%. This and many other health issues can be addressed through the combined efforts of the departments of School Education, Public Health and Social Welfare and Women Empowerment.

Based on expert advice, those in charge of the implementation of the ICDS and the nutritious meal programme can enhance the component of nutrition to those children having specific problems. The latest Breakfast Scheme is a step in this direction.

Besides, a continuous and rigorous review of the progress of the scheme and nutritious meal programme should be carried out in a sustained manner, says a senior government official.

Waking up to the writer

Writing and screenwriting are two different professions and have to be treated that way

SRIVATSAN. S

■ There has been a long-standing battle to marry literature and cinema. This has been a beef in Tamil cinema for decades for the simple reason that it did not have a parallel cinema movement as opposed to the neighbouring States of Kerala and West Bengal. Nor did it nurture the idea of a film society movement. This 'invisible wall' so to say, made it even more difficult for the crossover to happen. Very few have succeeded in bringing about a bridge between these two artforms. Film adaptations of popular novels – such as Jayakanthan's Sila Nerangalil Sila Manithargal or Pudhumaiyathan's Chitrannai – did not translate into more writers coming in.

■ There is often a misconception about writing for cinema. A lyrical masterpiece may not necessarily work for cinema. That is why when filmmakers rue over the need for more writers, the argument holds very little water for the simple reason that not all writers qualify as 'screenwriters'. What usually goes for pages in a novel comes to just about a few minutes in films.

■ It is hard to find a writer who knows and appreciates cinema as a form, while at the same time possessing the gift of the mighty pen.

There is often a misconception about writing for cinema, as the language that cinema speaks is not literature. A lyrical masterpiece may not necessarily work for cinema. One never knows what will work. In a recent interview, writer B. Jeyamohan discussed how he and Mani Ratnam saw the potential for a lengthy scene from a short piece of text while brainstorming for Ponniyin Selvan.

Particularly in the last decade, veteran Tamil-Malayalam author B. Jeyamohan has emerged as one of the important literary voices operating in mainstream Tamil cinema space

That is why when filmmakers often rue over the need for more writers, the argument holds very little water for the simple reason that not all writers qualify as 'screenwriters'. What usually goes for pages in a novel comes to just about a few minutes in films. Writing and screenwriting are two different professions and have to be treated that way.

The need for 'cinema' writers

It is in this context we need to acknowledge the towering contribution of Sujatha. It has been said about Sujatha's works that he was an accessible writer and that truly reflected in the films he wrote for Shankar (Indian, Mudhalvan, Sivaji: The Boss and Enthiran) and Mani Ratnam (Kannathil Muthamittal and Aayutha Ezhuthu). Not just Sujatha but Balakumaran too, who has written dialogues for classics such as Nayakan, Guna, Baashha and Pudhupettai, ushered in an easiness to film writing. Having said that, it is even harder to find a writer who knows and appreciates cinema as a form, while at the same time possessing the gift of the mighty pen.

Which is why what Vetri Maaran does is perhaps a wonder. To give an example, the filmmaker infamously said during the release of his blockbuster Asuran (2019), adapted from Vekkai, that people who have read writer Poomani's novel might not end up liking the film. Because what Asuran was on screen was not Poomani's Vekkai. Vetri had taken somebody else's written material and made it his own.

Particularly in the last decade, veteran Tamil-Malayalam author B. Jeyamohan has emerged as one of the important literary voices operating in mainstream Tamil cinema space, in the post Sujatha-era. The position Jeyamohan occupies today is rather delicate. Starting from Bala's Naan Kadavul (2009), based on his novel Yezhaam Ulagam, Jeyamohan has mostly been a dialogue writer in films such as Neerparavai (2012), Papanasam (2015) and Sarkar (2018) to name a few. The first screenplay he wrote was with Mani Ratnam for Kadal (2013), followed by Kavaiya Thalaivan (2014) and 2.0 (2018) – all of which were marred by mixed reviews and box-office figures. It is interesting that three upcoming biggies – Vendhu Thanindhathu Kaadu (VTK), Ponniyin Selvan (PS) and Viduthalai – have Jeyamohan in common. It's as if Tamil cinema has suddenly woken up to the writer.

Based on his short story, Jeyamohan has written VTK with Gautham Menon, while PS has dialogues by him. Vetri Maaran's Viduthalai too is based on his short story.

The box-office success of the aforementioned films remains crucial for Jeyamohan, more so for Tamil cinema. If they are a success story, then it will give birth to a new beginning in Tamil cinema, ensuring that this cross-pollination is here to stay. In the case of an anti-climax, it remains to be seen if the gap between Tamil cinema and literature would widen further.

Know your English

"How do you use 'look up', sir?"

"You know its literal meaning, don't you? Don't put your head down. Please look up. 'Look up' has several figurative meanings. One is 'to improve in price or prosperity'. When your business is bad and, after some time, it gets better, you say 'My business is looking up', 'automobile shares are looking up'. 'Look up' also means 'to search for a word in a dictionary, facts in a book of reference, etc.'

You don't know the meaning of 'phobia'? Look up the word in the dictionary. If you want to know more about the word, look up a good encyclopedia.

Could you please look up this number in the telephone directory?

Please look up Krishna Express in the railway guide.

A third meaning is 'to pay a call or visit'.

Next time I come to Madras, I will look you up.

I looked up my friend at his office.

If possible, I'll look her up on my way back.

"What is the meaning 'I haven't a clue to what's going on', sir?"

"It means 'I don't know what is going on or I don't understand what's going on'. A clue is 'a fact, or object that helps to solve a mystery or problem'.

The police didn't get any clue to the theft.

'Clue in' means 'to provide with the necessary information'.

Please clue me in on what really happened.

This is used in informal contexts. 'Clueless' in British English means 'stupid or ignorant'.

I am clueless about sailing.

I am clueless about gardening."

"What's the difference between 'understand' and 'comprehend', sir?"

"When I say that I understand a person, I mean that I have a fairly clear idea of that particular person. 'Understanding' means a fairly good knowledge of the person or the thing concerned. 'Comprehend' means to understand something in all its aspects. You can understand something without comprehending it. When you comprehend something, you understand it fully, minutely. You understand men and things. You comprehend ideas, principles. You don't say 'I can't comprehend him'. But you can say 'I am not able to comprehend his ideas'. You can understand a poem without being able to comprehend it. To comprehend is more difficult than to understand. Comprehension is more intellectual. Do you understand?"

"Yes, sir. But I can't say that I have comprehended the difference."

"Anyway you understand the difference. That's good. Let us stop here. Goodbye."

Goa Cong. Legislature Party merges with BJP

"This is a sad day for the Congress as well as for Goa... the BJP is practising this modus operandi everywhere. Where are such massive amounts of money coming from? They are brazenly misusing the power by breaking elected representatives from other parties," said Mr. Rao, who reached the coastal State for damage assessment on Thursday.

Conspiracy to split
Calangute MLA Michael Lobo had been named the Leader of Opposition after the Assembly election result in February, but was swiftly removed from the post after the party leadership found him conspiring along with Digambar Kamat to split the Congress in coordination with the ruling BJP.

Goa Pradesh Congress Committee chief Amit Patkar revealed that one of the MLA who had defected had allegedly been approached with ₹30 crore in cash.

Stressing that the remaining three MLAs of the Congress would take up people's issues, Mr. Rao, alluding to the defections, said that the "second round of garbage" had left the Congress.

Hemant Soren wants clarity from Governor

Earlier, when BJP leaders had petitioned Mr. Bais seeking Mr. Soren's "disqualification" from the Assembly in the office-of-profit case, the ECI had reportedly sent its decision to the Governor on August 25, which sparked a political row in the State. BJP leaders had accused Mr. Soren of awarding the lease of a stone chips mine in his and his younger brother Basant Soren's name in 2019, at a time when he was holding the post of the State's Mines Minister in a "clear violation" under Section 9(A) of the Representation of People's Act, 1951. Mr. Soren in a strong rebuttal has said the lease of the mine was given to him in 2008 and was to be renewed after 10 years, in 2019.

On September 1, a group of UPA leaders submitted a memorandum to the Governor, requesting him to clear the air over Mr. Soren's "disqualification". Mr. Soren later won a trust vote in the Assembly, with 48 MLAs supporting his government.

The ruling coalition UPA has the support of 49 MLAs in the 81-member Assembly. The Opposition BJP has 26 MLAs.

CM launches Breakfast Scheme in Tamil Nadu

The schoolchildren sat alongside the Chief Minister and broke their fast with a serving of vegetable rava khichdi, rava kesari and sambhar - the menu for Thursdays.

The significant breakfast scheme has been rolled out after 102 years, when P. Theagaraya Chettiy, the then President of the Corporation (Mayor) of the Justice Party approved the proposal to provide tiffin to students of a Corporation School at Thousand Lights, Chennai, Mr. Stalin said.

The scheme, in due course, was improved upon by former Chief Minister K. Kamaraj, who introduced mid-day meals for government primary schools, followed by former Chief Ministers M. G. Ramachandran, M. Karunanidhi and Jayalalithaa, who extended the programme's coverage to anganwadis, he said.

Mr. Stalin urged authorities to serve children with utmost care and treat them as their own while he asked students to focus on their academics and to reach higher positions in life.

'Aim is conciliation with all armed groups in N-E'

"About 60% of Assam is now free from the AFSPA. In Manipur, 15 police stations in six districts were taken out of the periphery of the disturbed area. In Arunachal Pradesh, the AFSPA remains in only three districts and two police stations in one district. In Nagaland, the disturbed area notification was removed from 15 police stations in seven districts and in Tripura and Meghalaya, the AFSPA was withdrawn completely," the Minister said.

The Home Ministry said that as per the agreement, the eight tribal groups had consented to abandon armed group violence, to follow the rule of law established by the Constitution and join the peaceful democratic process.

Mr. Shah said the major provisions of the agreement included fulfilling political, economic, and educational aspirations and protecting, preserving, and promoting social, cultural, linguistic, and ethnic identities.

A special development package of ₹1,000 crore would be provided over a period of five years for infrastructure development in Adivasi-populated areas.

Delay in PMAY-G scheme to invite penalty

The circular has specified that no penalty would be imposed if the central funds are not available with the State.

Out of the remaining 93 lakh houses, Chhattisgarh and West Bengal are the biggest offenders. The Union Government is yet to release funds for 12 lakh houses in Chhattisgarh and 11 lakh houses in West Bengal. Funds to both these States for this financial year were withheld for various lapses.

In case of West Bengal, after complaints from the BJP MPs from the State against the Mamata Banerjee government's move to repackagethe scheme as Bangla Awas Yojana and other procedural gaps, the Union Government had withheld funds due to pending response from the State government. The decision to release the funds now lies with Union Minister Giriraj Singh.

Among other States, Assam has not sanctioned seven lakh houses and Odisha has not sanctioned nine lakh houses. Maharashtra with 2.5 lakh houses and Bihar with two lakh houses are also among top offenders.

Nothing to hide in Congress presidential poll, says Mistry

New president can appoint State chiefs as per the resolutions by PCC delegates

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI

The entire process to elect a new Congress president is and will always be "open" and the party has nothing to hide, chairman of the party's Central Election Authority, Madhusudan Mistry, said on Thursday.

Mr. Mistry also clarified that the Prades Congress Committee (PCC) delegates will pass resolutions authorising the new Congress president to appoint the party's State chiefs and All India Congress Committee (AICC) delegates, and these resolutions will have no bearing on the polls to elect the party's president.

The clarification came after a section of the media reported that the PCCs would authorise the Gandhis to pick a new party chief.

"The Prades Returning Officers will call a meeting of PCC delegates, where they will pass resolutions to authorise the incoming president to appoint PCC presidents and AICC delegates," Mr. Mistry said, adding, "This process will have no bearing on the election of the new Congress president."

Addressing a press conference at the party headquarters here, Mr. Mistry reiterated that those seeking to file nominations for the post of AICC president and seeking the support of 10 PCC delegates from different States to sign on their form can see the list of the over 9,000 delegates at the AICC's Central Election Authority's office from September 20.

Alternatively, they can check if the person concerned has a QR code-bearing identification card, he said.

The election to the post of Congress president will be carried out by over 9,000 PCC delegates. With the passing of the resolutions by the PCC delegates, the new president will then be able to appoint new PCC or State unit chiefs and AICC delegates.

The AICC delegates, in turn, can elect members to the Congress Working Committee (CWC).

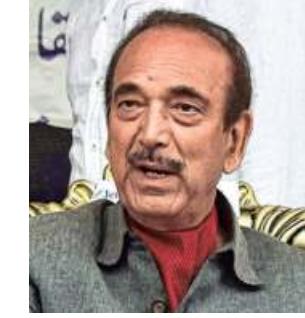

He noted that if there is a consensus on the names of 23 members, then polls may not be required.

CPI hits out at Cong. govt. for ban on Sukma march

'When Rahul is on a yatra, why not us?'

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI

The Communist Party of India (CPI) strongly criticised the Congress government in Chhattisgarh for refusing permission for a 100-km padayatra from Silger to Sukma, to be organised by the party in solidarity with the tribal community protesting against alleged police atrocities.

Calling the move "highly undemocratic", the party sought to remind the Congress that its own Bharat Jodo Yatra was currently passing through Kerala, ruled by the Left parties.

In a statement, the National Secretariat of the CPI said, "The Chhattisgarh government's action is unconstitutional. Suppression of democratic movement is the reason for people to adopt non-democratic methods of resistance, which is not in the interests of progress and development." The party urged the Bhupesh Baghel government to revoke its decision.

Protest against firing

The tribal community in Silger has been holding a long-drawn protest seeking action against police officials involved in the firing of May 17 last year that killed three villagers, who were protesting against a new security camp. It also wants the government to set up schools and hospitals in Bastar rather than security camps.

"We must remind that Rahul Gandhi is on a padayatra but a CPI yatra is not allowed," the CPI said.

Allahabad HC rejects AMU students' pleas on police action

'Students enter universities for the purpose of education'

ISHITA MISHRA
NEW DELHI

The Bench of Chief Justice of Allahabad HC and Justice J.J. Munir dismissed a batch of petitions filed expressing concerns regarding the anti-CAA protest that took at the campus of Aligarh Muslim University (AMU) followed by the police's actions on protesters.

The court observed that students enter universities or any educational institution for the purpose of education and not indulge in activities which bring a bad name to great educational institutions.

The court ordered the administration of the AMU to establish a mechanism for better communication with peacefully protesting, and the police provoked and later cane-charged them.

The HC, in January 2020 had ordered an inquiry in the matter which was done by the National Human Rights Commission (NHRC). The inquiry had to be done both on the students' claims and the police's action.

According to the court order whose copy is with The Hindu, the dismissal of multiple pleas came after reviewing of the report of the NHRC which had criticized students' as well as the police's action. It also had several recommendations for both State and the institution.

"Nothing survives in the petitions. Dismissed," the court stated.

Prominent madrasa in UP surveyed by officials

Islamic institute was established in 1898

LUCKNOW

A team of officials from the Lucknow district administration conducted a survey at the famous Muslim seminary, Darul Uloom Nadwatul Ulama, in the capital on Thursday. The visit is in line with the orders of the State government to conduct surveys of all madrasas in Uttar Pradesh.

The team collected information as per a 12-point proforma, including the names and details of the organisations running the seminary, number of students, the source of funding, the year of establishment, course curriculum and facilities provided/available, among other details.

Established in 1898, Darul Uloom Nadwatul Ulama is one of the oldest Islamic seminaries in India.

Mohammad Rabey Hasan, the president of All India Muslim Personal Law Board (AIMPLB), one of the leading bodies of Muslims in India, is also the chancellor of Darul Uloom Nadwatul Ulama.

The Congress on Thursday attacked the Centre over the wholesale price-based inflation remaining in double digits for 17 months, and said the Bharat Jodo Yatra has started to break the government's silence on inflation.

The wholesale price-based inflation eased to a 11-month low of 12.41% in August, on softening in prices of manufactured and fuel products, even as food items remained expensive.

Although the Wholesale Price Index (WPI)-based inflation declined for three consecutive months in August, it remained in double digit for 17 months beginning April last year. The in-

Students learn comfortably and with enthusiasm once hunger is satiated

M.K. STALIN

After assuming the office of Chief Minister of Tamil Nadu by swearing "I, Muthuvel Karunanidhi Stalin" last year, I feel, Thursday's inauguration of the Breakfast Scheme for students of classes I to V, will remain in the golden pages of history and bring a positive change in the lives of my people.

We have enabled the schoolchildren to get their breakfast before attending their classes. The 'Athimoolam' (root cause) of the problems faced by the suppressed and marginalised people in the society must be identified and suitable remedies be provided. That is why, we have launched this scheme in Athimoolam Primary School, Madurai. It is a coincidence that the school is located in Keezh Anna Thoppu. I am proud to be one of Anna's (former CM Annadurai) younger brothers to have started this scheme on his birth anniversary. Exactly, 102 years ago, on September 16, one of the leaders of the Justice Party, Sir Pitti Thiagarayar passed a resolution to introduce mid-day meal scheme for children in Chennai Corporation. After a century, the breakfast programme is being launched.

Breakfast Schemes in schools have been implemented in many states of United States of America by the Department of Agriculture.

Nutritional boost: The mid-day meal scheme was started in Tamil Nadu in 1956. ■ FILE PHOTO

Such schemes have been introduced in European countries, particularly in France three years ago. Research shows that providing breakfast in schools improves the learning ability of students and increases attendance.

Analysts say the demand for breakfast schemes has increased after the COVID-19 pandemic. I am ready to make any sacrifice to alleviate the poverty of the Tamil community and hunger of the children. Now I see the joy on the faces of children as they get their breakfast. I have no words to explain my happiness.

The Dravidian movement was established to ensure children belonging to poor and suppressed families should not be prevented from going to school. That is why the doctrine of Self-respect and Social Justice were coined. Communal reservation was brought as Thanthai Periyar (E.V. Ramasamy), Perarignar Anna (Annadurai) and Muthumizh Arignar (M. Karunanidhi) thought neither poverty nor caste should be a hindrance to one's education. I am overwhelmed that I, the follower of their path, have come to a position to fulfil their dreams and have implemented it.

No starvation

We believe the children of Tamil Nadu should not starve at any cost. 'Ayodhida-sa Pandithar' (a Dalit icon) was the first to express the noble intention of providing food to schoolchildren along with education. In the early period of 1900, he sowed the seed for the idea of providing mid-day meals in the Olcott Memorial schools in Chennai region. A few months before India's independence, the meal scheme was discontinued by the British government citing financial crisis.

The mid-day meal scheme was started in 1956 when Perunthalaiyar Kamarajar was the Chief Minister. Then Director of Public Education N.T.Sundaravadiel, an ardent follower of Periyar, was the one who implemented it despite strong opposition from some officials.

To enhance this scheme, in 1971, Chief Minister Karunanidhi took charge of the Nutritional Meals Programme. He made it a grand movement by providing nutritional meals to children and pregnant mothers. He offered nutrient-rich bread to children (aged up to 3 years) in municipalities around Chennai). In 1975, he launched an Integrated Nutritional Programme across the state.

'Makkal Tilagam' M.G. Ramachandran, as Chief Minister, took great efforts to expand it setting up more centres and allotted more funds. In 1989, Karunanidhi added egg in the nutritious meal; he also added chickpeas, green gram and boiled potatoes. In 1980, he extended eggs for five days a week and provided bananas to those who do not prefer eggs. Former Chief Minister Jayalalithaa Amma ordered the provision of variety rice during her regime.

When I attended a programme at a school in Chennai, I asked a few children if they'd had their breakfast. They replied 'no'. Later, when I consulted the authorities, they said that many children come to school skipping breakfast. I thought no child should attend classes with empty stomach. Under the Chief Minister's Breakfast Scheme, 1.14 lakh children from 1,545 schools will benefit at a cost of ₹12.75 per day / per child. I quote the 'cost' in administrative terminology. In fact it is not an expenditure; it is the duty of our government! We will progressively expand this project and take all steps expeditiously for its implementation to the fullest. Such schemes should not be counted as freebies, charity, gift or privilege. This is the bounden duty and responsibility of the government!

Students learn comfortably once hunger is satiated. They grasp easily and attend the school with enthusiasm. There will be a regular attendance in schools. Tamil Nadu will have a great educational ratio. If a person who benefits from this scheme occupies the highest position later, the benefits to the society remains immeasurable. For me, the schemes devised for education, medicine and the mitigation of hunger stand beyond criticism. These schemes form a face of governance. I request the people to measure the success of the government only with such schemes.

Law Minister presses for fast track courts

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI

Law Minister Kiren Rijiju has written to the Chief Justices of High Courts to accelerate the process of setting up fast track courts (FTC) and fast track special courts (FTSC) in their respective States to hear cases of heinous crimes against women, children and senior citizens.

In the letter, dated September 2, Mr. Rijiju noted that of the 1,800 FTCs recommended by the 14th Finance Commission, only 896 were functional as of July 31 and more than 13.18 lakh cases were pending in these courts.

He said that more than 3.28 lakh cases were pending in the FTSCs, which was "an alarming situation". His letter to the Chief Justices of High Courts follow a detailed review of the FTCs and FTSCs.

Mr. Modi's absence was felt particularly as other leaders held a number of bilateral meetings on Thursday, including a highly anticipated meeting between Chinese President Xi Jinping and Russian President Vladimir Putin for the first time since the war in Ukraine began.

On Friday, PM Modi will hold three bilateral meetings, with Mr. Putin, Mr. Mirziyoyev and Mr. Raisi, the MEA confirmed.

Mr. Xi held eight bilateral meetings in all and Mr. Putin met with six other leaders, including Iranian President Ebrahim Raisi.

The strong showing by Mr. Putin is expected to display confidence, and dispel Western narratives on challenges he faces in the Ukraine war. In addition, SCO countries attending the meeting are expected to express disapproval for "economic restrictions" or unilateral sanctions and plans for an "oil price cap" imposed by the U.S. and EU.

At a briefing on Thursday, Foreign Secretary Vinay Kwatra said that "India is not a member of the G7" when asked if India would join the oil price cap mechanism plan announced by G7 countries on September 2.

State reorganisation laws cannot curtail a citizen's right to reside and settle in any part of the country, the Supreme Court has held in a judgment.

A Bench of Justices Indira Banerjee and V. Ramasubramanian observed that "there is only one domicile, that is, the domicile of the country and there is no separate domicile for a State".

"Every part of every State is an integral and inseparable part of India," Justice Banerjee, who authored the judgment, wrote.

Rival Naga extremist groups refresh reconciliation pact

GUWAHATI

Rival Naga extremist groups have refreshed a 13-year-old reconciliation treaty to "move forward" together for an honourable solution to the 'Naga political issue'.

The issue pertains to the peace deal signed between the Centre and the National Socialist Council of Nagaland or the NSCN (Isak-Muivah) and the Naga National Political Groups (NNPGs) comprising seven other organisations, including the factions of the Myanmar-based Khaplang group.

On September 14, the NSCN (IM) represented by retired General V.S. Atem and the NNPGs represented by Alezo Venhu signed a document reaffirming the Covenant of Reconciliation of June 13, 2009, in the first meeting facilitated by the Forum for Naga Reconciliation after eight years.

The meeting was held at Chumukedima near Dimapur, Nagaland's commercial hub.

The NSCN, formed in 1980, had violently split into the I-M and K factions in 1988.

"We renew to work together in the spirit of love and desist from all forms of armed violence and refrain from indulging in violence of words through print and social media among Naga political groups and the general public. From this time forth, in order to chart a path forward, we remain committed to peace and respect and to resolve outstanding issues among us," the September 14 declaration read.

NIA arrests three more in heroin seizure case

It was seized in Mundra port last year

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

NEW DELHI

The National Investigation Agency (NIA) has arrested three more accused in connection with the 3,000-kg heroin seizure case.

The accused have been identified as Rah Matullah, Ishwinder Singh and Jasbir Singh. The NIA probe has revealed that five consignments of the heroin-laden goods were imported into India through the same network from November 2020 to September 2021.

"Three such consignments of the semi-processed Talc stones ultimately reached a warehouse in Neb Sarai, Delhi, which was rented by the absconding accused, Najibullah Khalid, in the name of another Afghan national, Noorzai Abdul Salam. The heroin was segregated from the concealing goods in this warehouse by Afghani experts and then sent for distribution in the market through a network of drug suppliers and peddlers," said the agency. The consignment was then shifted to another warehouse taken on rent allegedly by Shaheen, also an Afghan national who is a close associate of Najibullah, through Jasbir and Ishwinder.

Ishwinder Singh, a known drug distributor, was in direct touch with Javed, an Afghanistan-based accused and a key aide of prime accused Hassan Daad. On Javed's directions, he and Jasbir Singh forged papers and rented a warehouse in Hamidpur village (Delhi), to where the semi-processed Talc was shifted from the Neb Sarai warehouse for further disposal," said an official.

The DRI had seized the heroin consignment at the Mundra port in September last year. The NIA took over the case in October 2021.

Six held for rape, murder of Dalit sisters

Hathras repeated, says Opposition blaming BJP govt.

LUCKNOW

Six persons have been arrested on charges of rape and murder of two minor Dalit sisters, who were found hanging from a tree in Lakhimpur Kheri district in Uttar Pradesh on Wednesday.

Addressing a press conference, Lakhimpur Kheri Superintendent of Police Sanjiv Suman said, "On Wednesday, the girls were coaxed and taken to the farm and both were sexually abused. Two accused have confessed to having forceful sexual relations with the girls."

The police have also registered a case under Sections 302, 323, 452, 376 and 3/4 of the POCSO Act.

In Lucknow, Additional Director General of Police (Law and Order) Prashant Kumar said, "All the six accused namely Junaid, Suhail, Chhotu, Hafizur Rahman, Karimuddin and Chhotu have been arrested. A 315 bore pistol, two live cartridges and an empty shell have been recovered from the main accused Junaid's son."

The family of the deceased, who were reluctant to perform the last rites, relented after getting assurance of financial help and other aid from the U.P. government.

The post-mortem was videographed and the bodies were handed over to the family for the last rites.

Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath has also instructed officials to provide ₹25 lakh, a house and farming land to the victims' family in the case. The administration has also agreed for the trial of the case in a fast-track court.

In the aftermath of the incident, Opposition parties trained their guns on the ruling BJP government alleging that the killing of the two Dalit girls was a repeat of 'Hathras ki beti' episode.

It was on September 14, 2020, that a 19-year-old Dalit girl was gang-raped and assaulted in Hathras district of Uttar Pradesh. She died later.

"The heartbreaking incident in Lakhimpur Kheri is in discussion everywhere, any type of condemnation for such heinous crime is less. In Uttar Pradesh, criminals are moving fearlessly because the priorities of the government are wrong," Bahujan Samaj Party president Mayawati wrote on Twitter.

Former Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister and Samajwadi Party president Akhilesh Yadav said, "The killing is a heinous repeat of the 'Hathras ki beti' murder. Police atrocities on Dalit sisters and daughters and poor are not stopping under the BJP rule.

The police are lynching innocents by implicating them in false cases while those who commit crime are fearless."

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi hit out at the BJP and said women's security cannot be expected from those facilitating the release of rapists.

"The kidnapping and murder of two minor Dalit sisters in Lakhimpur in broad daylight is a very disturbing incident. Women's safety cannot be expected from those facilitating the release of rapists and welcoming them," Mr. Gandhi said in a reference to 11 convicts in the Bilkis Bano gangrape case being released last month under the Gujarat government's remission policy.

Lok Sabha member and Trinamool Congress leader Kakoli Dastidar questioned the 'silence' of the National Commission for Women (NCW) and criticised the law and order situation.

Expressing his condolence to the family of the victims, Communist Party of India general secretary D. Raja tweeted, "This heinous crime exposes the hollowness of the Prime Minister's 'Nari Shakti' slogan. Even children are not safe in Yogi Adityanath's Hindu-Raj. Shameful!"

SC panel issues notice to U.P. govt.

STAFF REPORTER

NEW DELHI

Following the rape and murder of two minor Dalit girls in Uttar Pradesh's Lakhimpur Kheri, the National Commission for Scheduled Castes (NCSC) has issued a notice to authorities in the State and the district, seeking an Action Taken Report as soon as possible.

The commission on Thursday took suo motu cognisance of media reports on the deaths, and sent the notice to the Chief Secretary of the U.P. government, the State Director-General of Police, the District Magistrate of Lakhimpur Kheri, and the local police.

NCSC head Vijay Sampla took to Twitter and called the incident "very unfortunate", directing authorities to submit their report to the panel "immediately".

In the notice, NCSC said it had decided to independently probe the incident.

In a statement here, former Lok Sabha MP Udit Raj, who is the national chairman of the organisation, sought to remind the PM about the demand first raised in a letter to him in December 2020. The organisation had also held a demonstration to emphasise the demand.

'Wearing hijab is an expression of self'

Kapil Sibal says Supreme Court should refer the case to a Constitution Bench

KRISHNADAS RAJAGOPAL

NEW DELHI

Hijab is a Muslim woman's self-expression. She cannot be compelled by the state to shed her persona at the gates of her college, senior advocate Kapil Sibal told the Supreme Court on Thursday.

"As Polonius said in 'Hamlet', 'clothes maketh the man'. Wearing hijab is an expression of what you are, where you are from, who you are. It is an expression of the self," Mr. Sibal argued.

The senior counsel, appearing for a student-petitioner against Karnataka's ban on wearing hijab in classrooms, said the Supreme Court should refer the case to a Constitution Bench, which should in turn first decide whether "wearing a dress is self-expression, which lies both at the heart of the fundamental rights of privacy and freedom of expression". Hijab can be given the same protection as Sikh turbans and kirpans.

The petitioners were responding to a repeated question from the Bench as to "where is your right to wear a hijab to school".

"Privacy and dignity is attached to your person and not to the place you go to... A convict does not shed his fundamental rights at the gates of the prison...", advocate Shoeb Alam, for a student-petitioner.

Mr. Alam said the state could not "barter" one fundamental right for the other.

"The state cannot say I will give you education and in return you surrender your privacy, lay it on my doorstep. The school or the state can have no say to what extent I should clothe myself to feel safe. It is a matter of choice, of my discretion," he contended.

Religious identity

Advocate Prashant Bhushan said the hijab, has over the years, acquired a religious identity, protected under Article 25 of the Constitution.

Senior advocate Colin Gonsalves said the Karnataka High Court's observations overturning a Muslim student's right to attend classes in hijab were "hurtful".

"The HC said in schools there are no individual rights... The High Court said such 'qualified spaces' by their very nature repel the assertion of individual rights to the detriment of their general discipline and decorum. The use of such obscure terms like 'qualified spaces' conclude that constitutional and fundamental rights are somehow absent and are at a lower pedestal in schools, war rooms and defence camps," he submitted.

He said the HC judgment gave the impression that "order" in schools was somehow threatened by a girl wearing a hijab.

Centre cites law to deny seats to Ukraine-returnees

Health Ministry files affidavit in SC on medical students' plea

LEGAL CORRESPONDENT

NEW DELHI

The government on Thursday told the Supreme Court that the law does not allow undergraduate medical students, who fled the "war-like situation" in Ukraine, to be accommodated in Indian medical colleges.

The affidavit from the Health Ministry was in response to petitions filed by students, in their first to fourth year of undergraduate medical studies in Ukraine, seeking transfer to colleges in India to continue their semesters here.

"So far as such students are concerned, there are no provisions either under the Indian Medical Council Act of 1956 or the National Medical Commission Act 2019 as well as the Regulations to accommodate or transfer medical students from any foreign medical institutes/colleges to Indian medical colleges," the affidavit said.

"Further, after such completion, the certificate of course completion/degree is expected to be issued by the parent institutions in Ukraine," the affidavit clarified that this global "academic mobility programme" mentioned in the September 9 public notice cannot be interpreted to mean accommodation of the Ukraine-returnees in Indian colleges," the affidavit said.

Two reasons

"The extant regulations in India do not permit migration of students from foreign universities to India. The public notice cannot be used as a back door entry into Indian colleges offering undergraduate courses," the government explained.

The government said these students had left for foreign universities for two reasons, poor marks in National Eligibility cum Entrance Test (NEET) and affordability of medical education in foreign countries. "In case these students with poor merit are allowed admission to premier medical colleges in India by default, there may be several litigations from desirous candidates who could not get seats in these colleges and have taken admission in either lesser known colleges or have been deprived of a seat in medical colleges," the Ministry affidavit reasoned.

Besides, these students, if admitted in Indian colleges, would again face the problem of affordability.

Putin, Xi hail 'great power' ties at SCO talks

Russian leader condemns 'U.S. provocation on Taiwan'; China seeks to 'inject stability' into the world

AGENCE FRANCE-PRESSE

SAMARKAND

Russian President Vladimir Putin and Chinese leader Xi Jinping met for their first face-to-face talks since the start of the conflict in Ukraine on Thursday, hailing their strategic ties in defiance of the West.

The two leaders met at a Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) summit in the Uzbek city of Samarkand, a stop on the ancient Silk Road.

The meeting was part of Mr. Xi's first trip abroad since the early days of the pandemic and for Mr. Putin a chance to show Russia has not been fully isolated despite Western efforts.

"China is willing to make efforts with Russia to assume the role of great powers, and play a guiding role to inject stability and positive energy into a world rocked by social turmoil," Mr. Xi told Mr. Putin.

Mr. Putin took a clear broadside at the U.S., which has been leading efforts to support Ukraine and impose sanctions on Russia.

Putin thanks Xi
"Attempts to create a unipolar world have recently acquired an absolutely ugly form and are completely unacceptable," Mr. Putin said.

"We highly appreciate the balanced position of our Chinese friends in connection with the Ukrainian crisis," Mr. Putin told Mr. Xi, while reiterating Moscow's backing for China on Taiwan.

"We adhere to the principle of one China. We condemn the provocation of the U.S. and their satellites in the Taiwan Strait," the Russian President said, after a U.S. Senate committee on Wednesday took the first step towards Washington directly providing billions of dollars in military aid to Taiwan.

It was the first in-person meeting between the two leaders since Mr. Putin saw Mr. Xi in early February for the Winter Olympic Games, days before the Russian leader launched the military offensive in Ukraine.

Alternative' to West
The Kremlin has touted the SCO summit in the ancient Silk Road city of Samarkand as showing there is an "alternative" to Western-dominated international institutions.

The SCO – made up of China, India, Pakistan, Russia and the ex-Soviet Central Asian nations of Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan and Uzbekistan – was set up in 2001 as a political, economic and security organisation to rival Western institutions.

The leaders of those countries were to attend, as well as Iranian President Ebrahim Raisi and Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan.

Mr. Putin met with the leaders of Kyrgyzstan and Turkmenistan earlier on Thursday, as well as with Mr. Raisi and Pakistani Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif.

With both Mr. Raisi and Mr. Sharif, he said ties were "developing positively", while the Iranian leader told Mr. Putin that U.S.-backed sanctions on both countries would only make their relationship "stronger".

"The Americans think whichever country they impose sanctions on, it will be stopped, their perception is a wrong one," Mr. Raisi said.

For Mr. Putin the summit comes at an important time, as his forces face major battlefield setbacks in Ukraine and amid a continued Western push to make Russia an international pariah.

For Mr. Xi, it is an opportunity to shore up his credentials as a global statesman ahead of a pivotal congress of the ruling Communist Party in October.

Ulf Kristersson holds meetings with coalition partners

AGENCE FRANCE-PRESSE

STOCKHOLM

Sweden's incoming leader got to work on Thursday on the thorny task of building a government supported for the first time by the far-right, a day after securing a slim election victory.

Conservative Moderates chief Ulf Kristersson was expected to be formally tasked sometime next week with forming a government after Social Democratic Prime Minister Magdalena Andersson on Thursday tendered her resignation.

While the far-right Sweden Democrats became the biggest party on the right with 20% of votes, observers said it was unlikely the anti-immigration and nationalist party would be given Cabinet seats due to divisions in the right-wing bloc.

The small Liberal party has said it would withdraw "goal", but he has also made it clear that he was ready to present a long list of demands in exchange for the party's informal support outside government.

Speaker of Parliament Andreas Norlen said on Thursday he would summon party leaders for talks next week before assigning Mr. Kristersson the task of building a government, opening a period of formal negotiations.

But Mr. Kristersson, 58, has already rolled up his sleeves and held meetings with the leaders of the Christian Democrats, Sweden Democrats and Liberals.

"I now begin the work of forming a new and strong government," Mr. Kristersson said on Wednesday evening in a post on Facebook after final vote counting gave his side the win.

"Now we will restore order in Sweden!"

Migrants dropped off near Harris' residence

ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON

Two buses of migrants from the U.S.-Mexico border were dropped off near Vice-President Kamala Harris' home in residential Washington on Thursday morning in the bitter political battle over the Biden administration's immigration policies.

Texas Governor Greg Abbott has been busing migrants out of Texas to cities with Democratic Mayors as part of a political strategy this year because he claims there are too many arrivals over the border to his state. Arizona Governor Doug Ducey also has adopted this policy, and Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis also got in on the act recently. It was first dreamed up by former President Donald Trump.

Mr. Abbott tweeted that he'd sent the buses that arrived on Thursday: "We're sending migrants to her backyard to call on the Biden Administration to do its job & secure the border."

About two dozen men and women stood outside the U.S. Naval Observatory at dawn, clutching plastic bags carrying their belongings, before moving to a nearby church. Ms. Harris' office had no immediate comment.

Armenia-Azerbaijan border clashes toll rises to over 170

Truce holding, no fresh violence reported overnight: Yerevan

AGENCE FRANCE-PRESSE
YEREVAN

Azerbaijan said on Thursday that 71 of its troops had died in border clashes with Armenia over the last two days in the worst fighting since 2020.

Yerevan said a ceasefire was holding on the Armenian-Azerbaijani border, with no fresh violence reported overnight.

The earlier death toll given by Azerbaijan was 50.

Azerbaijan's Defence Ministry published a list of 71 servicemen killed in clashes between the historic rivals since Tuesday while Yerevan said 105 of its troops were killed.

The clashes ended "thanks to the international involvement" overnight on Thursday, Armenia's security council said, after earlier failed attempts from Russia to broker a truce.

The European Union welcomed the ceasefire, which it said was "being respected so far."

"The EU remains strongly involved in the normalisation process between Armenia and Azerbaijan," Peter Stano, the bloc's spokesman for foreign affairs and security policy, said in a statement.

EU Special Representative, Toivo Klaar, was holding consultations in Baku on Wednesday and in Yerevan on Thursday, he said.

Baku and Yerevan have traded accusations of initiating the violence, which saw hundreds of Armenian civilians flee their homes.

U.S. rail strike averted with 'tentative' deal

WASHINGTON

Major U.S. railroads and unions secured a tentative deal after intense talks brokered by the Biden administration to avert a rail shutdown that could have hit food and fuel supplies across the country. President Joe Biden announced the deal on Thursday, calling it "a win for tens of thousands of rail workers."

A rail shutdown could freeze almost 30% of U.S. cargo shipments by weight, stoke inflation, cost the U.S. economy as much as $2 billion per day.

Hungary no longer a full democracy: EU resolution

AGENCE FRANCE-PRESSE
BRUSSELS

Hungary is no longer a "full democracy" and the EU needs to do everything to bring it back into line with European values, the European Parliament said on Thursday.

MEPs voted 433 in favour, 123 against, to now describe Hungary – ruled by populist Prime Minister Viktor Orban, who maintains close ties to Russian President Vladimir Putin – "a hybrid regime of electoral autocracy" in "serious breach" of EU democratic norms.

The vote was largely symbolic and does not change the course of the Union's decision making, which requires unanimity of all 27 member states – including Hungary – to adopt major issues, such as sanctions on Russia.

With their vote, the EU lawmakers roundly adopted a parliamentary resolution that said Hungary has been backsliding on democratic and fundamental rights since 2018 through the "deliberate and systematic efforts of the Hungarian government".

The report said lack of action by EU institutions had exacerbated the degradation.

Fitch cuts FY23 India growth outlook to 7% on high inflation

Ratings firm flags global slowdown, expects RBI to continue with rate increases

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

NEW DELHI

Fitch Ratings on Thursday cut its forecast for India's economic growth in 2022-23 to 7%, from 7.8% projected earlier, citing the global slowdown, high inflation and the RBI's monetary actions to tame it as reasons. It also pared its 2023-24 outlook to 6.7%, from 7.4%.

Fitch also slashed its 2022 global growth forecast to 2.4%, from 2.9%, in view of the European gas crisis, high inflation and a sharp acceleration in the pace of global monetary policy tightening that was taking a heavy toll on economic prospects.

"Manufacturing PMI... also recovered strongly in July and remained upbeat in August, with the RBI saying that 'domestic activity remains resilient.' Nevertheless, we expect the economy to slow given the global economic backdrop, elevated inflation and tighter monetary policy," the ratings agency said.

Fitch expects the RBI to further tighten the policy rate to 5.9%, from 5.4% currently, by the end of the year.

International passenger traffic for Indian airlines may have declined since June with the end of the peak travel season, but continues to be robust compared with the levels witnessed in the same month pre-COVID, according to rating agency ICRA.

In August, airlines ferried 26.1 lakh or 32% more passengers than the 19.8 lakh recorded in August 2019, ICRA said.

In July, this figure was 23 lakh international passengers which was 25% more than July 2019. June recorded the highest number of international passengers this year at 44 lakh, which was 79% of pre-COVID levels, according to ICRA.

Tamilnad Mercantile Bank recovers after weak debut

Ends at ₹509.65 on NSE vs ₹495 open

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

CHENNAI

Shares of Tamilnad Mercantile Bank (TMB) recovered their poise after making a weak debut on Thursday to close trading at ₹508.45 and ₹509.65 on the BSE and NSE, respectively.

TMB shares opened at a 3% discount on the NSE, at ₹495, against the issue price of ₹510. Intraday, the shares hit highs of ₹519 on the BSE and ₹515 on the NSE.

The lender, which had tapped the capital market during the second week of September at a price band of ₹500-525, eventually raised ₹808 crore.

"My preliminary view is that it is a good [price], given the market condition of the day," said MD & CEO S. Krishnan.

Krishnan. "Basically, it all depends on the demand and supply, I expect a further pickup in the days to come," he added.

Later, talking to journalists, Mr. Krishnan said that his immediate goal was to make TMB a strong mid-size bank in the industry by offering the best of services to customers through phygital (physical and digital) mode, with a focus on retail, agriculture and MSME (RAM) sectors, and by expanding the lender's footprint based on the potential.

Federer calls time on a magical career

The Swiss maestro, beset with injuries of late, to retire after the Laver Cup next week

LONDON

Roger Federer, regarded by many as the greatest male player to wield a tennis racket and who took the sport to new levels during a career spanning more than two decades, has announced he will retire after next week's Laver Cup in London.

The 41-year-old, who won 20 Grand Slam singles titles and re-defined a sport with his artistry and grace, broke the news tennis fans across the world have feared in a lengthy statement on Thursday.

A knee injury meant he has not played a match since losing at last year's Wimbledon although many still believed he could come back for one last golden farewell. But he said his age had finally caught up with him.

"As many of you know, the past three years have presented me with challenges in the form of injuries and surgeries," Federer said in an emotional statement posted on Instagram.

"I've worked hard to return to full competitive form. But I also know my body's capacities and limits, and its message to me lately has been clear. I am 41 years old."

Generous treatment

"I have played more than 1,500 matches over 24 years. Tennis has treated me more generously than I ever would have dreamt, and now I must recognise when it's time to end my competitive career. The Laver Cup next week in London will be my final ATP event. I will play more tennis in the future, of course, but just not in Grand Slams or on the tour."

Federer, who dominated men's tennis for several years after winning his first Grand Slam title at Wimbledon in 2003, has been troubled by injuries in recent years.

He has undergone three knee operations in the last

Haynes hangs up her boots

SYDNEY

Rachael Haynes, a core member of the Australia team that has dominated women's cricket for a generation, called time on her 13-year international career on Thursday.

The 35-year-old top-order batter also retired from State cricket but said she would play one more season for Sydney Thunder in the Women's Big Bash League.

The left-hander has scored 3,818 runs in more than 150 internationals over all three formats since her debut in 2009 and won six global titles with Australia.

England team arrives in Pakistan

PCB confident of smooth conduct

AGENCE FRANCE-PRESSE
KARACHI

England's cricket squad touched down here on Thursday on a first tour of Pakistan in 17 years — a lengthy absence brought about by security fears. England last played in Pakistan in 2005 and was due to visit last year until pulling out at short notice after New Zealand also cancelled a tour citing safety concerns.

Following a 2009 attack by Islamist militants on the Sri Lankan team bus in Lahore, Pakistan was forced to play international matches at neutral venues such as the UAE, where it hosted England for series in 2012 and 2015.

Over the past five years, international cricket has gradually returned to Pakistan and earlier this year Australia toured successfully for the first time in nearly a quarter of a century.

The PCB said the Australia series had "demonstrated our event planning and operational skills" and expressed confidence that the England games would also pass off safely.

On match days, roads between the England team hotel and Karachi's National stadium will be sealed off and be under armed guard.

Podoroska pips Maria in thriller

Down 1-5 in the third set tie-break, the Argentine claws back

CHENNAI OPEN

N. SUDARSHAN
CHENNAI

Tatjana Maria's ingenuity ran dry as she was ousted 3-6, 6-2, 7-6(6) by Argentina's Nadia Podoroska in WTA Chennai Open round-of-16 match at the SDAT Tennis Stadium here on Thursday.

In a compelling, but not so thrilling, contest that ran for 2 hours and 46 minutes, Podoroska found herself down 1-5 in the deciding set tie-break before clawing her way back to win seven of the next eight points and defeat the tournament's fourth seeded German.

During the on-court interview, former India player and Davis Cup captain Anand Amritraj described the contest as "one of the best he had ever watched." Coming from him, it was high praise.

In the first set, though, rallies. Podoroska moved Maria end-to-end and used the drop shot to great effect as she took the set 6-2.

In the third, Maria lifted her level a notch but Podoroska didn't take much time to respond. Maria had four break-point opportunities — one each in games five and nine and two in game 11 — but the Argentine saved them all. She had one of her own in the sixth game, but Maria erased it with a fine service winner.

But once in the tie-break, both players seemed like nervous wrecks.

If Maria blew a 5-1 lead, Podoroska double-faulted on her first match point at 6-5. But the latter gathered herself just in time and showed enough staying power to finish on the right side of a lengthy rally to clinch the tie and book a meeting with Eugenie Bouchard.

Other results (round-of-16):
Singles: Katie Swan (Gbr) bt Anastasia Gasanova 7-6(5), 6-2; Magda Linette (Pol) bt Okana Selekhmeteva 6-2, 6-0.

Karman-Rutuja duo bows out

NIHIT SACHDEVA
CHENNAI

Karman Kaur Thandi and Rutuja Bhatia lost 0-6, 3-6 to the top-seeded Canadian-Brazilian pair of Gabriela Dabrowski and Luisa Stefani in the women's doubles quarter-final of the Chennai Open on Thursday.

With Karman and Rutuja's defeat, India's challenge at the WTA 250 event came to an end.

Dabrowski and Stefani, started aggressively and clinched the opening set in 16 minutes. The Indian duo, which had received a last-minute entry in the draw as alternates, failed to match the quality of their opponents' net play and could only win seven out of 31 points in the first set.

Playing her first tournament in more than a year after suffering a knee injury during the 2021 US semifinals with Dabrowski, Stefani served for the match successfully as Bhatia hit a cross court forehand wide at 15-40.

Dabrowski and Stefani took a 2-1 lead.

However, the top seeds targeted Bhatia and broke her twice in the next five games to turn the scoreline to 5-3 in their favour.

Haaland soars for City in Champions League

Messi, Mbappe and Neymar score in PSG's comeback win over Haifa

ASSOCIATED PRESS
GENEVA

It was an Erling Haaland show in the Champions League even on a night when Paris Saint-Germain superstars Lionel Messi, Kylian Mbappé and Neymar all scored in a comeback win.

Manchester City also trailed, deep into the game, at home against Haaland's former club Borussia Dortmund on Wednesday in a fascinating quick reunion for the prolific Norway prodigy.

The stage was set for Haaland to seal a 2-1 win after teammate John Stones levelled the game scoring with a stunning shot in the 80th minute.

Haaland rose to his challenge in the 84th when he met a high cross with a twisting leap and acrobatic volley to send goalward a ball that seemed to have passed him.

Messi had tied the game for PSG before halftime at Maccabi Haifa but it took until the 69th for Mbappé to seize the lead and Neymar sealed a 3-1 win in the 88th.

Group F: Shakhtar Donetsk 1 (Mudryk 29) drew with Celtic 1 (Bondonre 85, Ndombolo 90+);

Kunnummal and Vihari propel South

Courtesy the duo's centuries, the team reaches a commanding 324 for two on day one against North

DULEEP TROPHY

S. DINAKAR
SALEM

It would be insensitive to call Rohan Kunnummal a run-machine.

He collects his runs with machine-like precision, yes, but then his batting has a heart-beat and soul.

An artist, he brush-strokes the canvas with varying colours, completing the picture in the process.

Hanuma Vihari is as tough as they come. He is organised, composed, calm and gathers his runs methodically.

Inherent solidity

The inherent solidity in his methods is hard to ignore; his wicket is never given away easily.

The 24-year-old Palakkad-born Kunnummal's stroke-filled 143 (225b, 16x4, 2x6) opening the innings and skipper Vihari's unbeaten 107 (220b, 7x4, 1x6) piloted South Zone to a commanding 324 for two against North on day one of their Duleep Trophy semifinal at the quaint SCF ground here on Thursday.

And B. Indrajith (20 batting) appeared in fine touch

as South dominated the proceedings on a picturesque ground flanked by hills.

The North bowlers struggled. There was not much in the surface for the pacemen, save for the early period. And the side did not possess genuine quality in spin.

The South batsmen were not complaining. Openers Kunnummal and Mayank Agarwal (49, 59b, 6x4, 1x6) put on 102 in 22.3 overs. Mayank stroked fluently on both sides before the left-arm spinner, Nishanth Sindhu, turned one past his defensive blade to disturb the stumps.

Kunnummal struggled to find batting rhythm initially and Mayank nursed the youngster through the difficult period. Gradually, Kunnummal grew in confidence.

No respite

There was no respite for North. Kunnummal and Vihari added 167 in 315 balls.

Kunnummal has sped off the blocks since the last Ranji season with three hundreds and an innings of 75.

backfoot punches, and loads of character, ensured South retained the advantage.

Kartikeya has West in a spin

Extra bounce

Opting to field, Central reduced the star-studded West Zone to 252 for nine at stumps with Rahul Tripathi batting on 64.

Left-arm pacer Aniket Choudhary struck in the fourth over of the day when he had Yashavati Jaiswal caught at slip for a duck, with extra bounce doing the trick. Soon after Gourav Yadav had skipper Ajinkya Rahane trapped leg-before with the batter not offering a shot.

Toss: Central.

Shams Mulani and Tanush Kotian then steadied the ship with a 74-run stand for the seventh wicket before Kartikeya had Kotian bowled while attempting a cut. The Madhya Pradesh spinner then got his fifth wicket when he castled Jaydev Unadkat, who went for a slog sweep.

Conclave drives quest to find ways to ignite the nation's Olympic dream

Moment to cherish: Former athlete Bahadur Prasad and athlete Rupal Chaudhary honoured by Navneet Sehgal, Additional Chief Secretary, Sports, Govt. of U.P. ■ R.V. MOORTHY

U.P.'s Additional Chief Secretary, Sports, discussing what the role of the sports industry can be in the State's run to becoming a trillion-dollar economy. He said, "We are looking to get a lot of inputs and suggestions from this Conclave today."

Special address
Sports Minister Girish Chandra Yadav also delivered a special inaugural address virtually, saying, "The Conclave will be very beneficial for our players."

Former India and Chennai Super Kings batter Suresh Raina, in a panel discussion to find out what an athlete requires to find success, said, "Kids these days are hesitant about going out and playing. The best support system should start from the school level. U.P. government does great work in this regard. Uttar Pradesh is Uttam (best) Pradesh." Next, Primary Education Minister Sandeep Singh elucidated how the National Education Policy takes care of a child's all-around education.

GAISF's Membership Assembly was supposed to happen in Russia but it has been postponed. So, now we wait. But there will be a lot of documentation, structure and projects," Totovski said.

Later, Rachana Govil, former ED of the Sports Authority of India, Lucknow, said there needs to be more community programmes to make people aware of women's safety issues.

"There is a lot of character assassination whenever girls speak with boys. During my playing days, the first thing my mother told me was to not protest when a guy started following me on cycle and was passing comments. Around 40 to 50% female athletes get bullied or sexually harassed," Govil said.

"In 2020, we received the opinion from their membership group that we fulfil all conditions to be full members of the Global Association of International Sports

'U.P. govt. working on a new sports policy'

There couldn't have been a more opportune time for Conclave, says Sehgal

SANTADEEP DEY LUCKNOW

Navneet Sehgal, Additional Chief Secretary, Sports, Government of Uttar Pradesh, says the State is working on a new sports policy, which will see new sporting facilities come up for the first time in four districts.

"We must involve young people in the field of sport. We are working on a new sports policy, and there couldn't have been a more opportune time for this Conclave. This is the best way to reach out to our sports persons.

"We have been working on creating better infrastructure and sporting facilities. In our State, we have stadiums everywhere except four districts. But in these districts also, work is already underway," he said while speaking at the Sportstar North Sports Conclave here.

"Sport is a way of life... The government of U.P. has always awarded all medalists after tournaments. Now, we have gone on to identify 26 gazetted posts where players will be appointed without any interview process," Sehgal added.

No dearth of merit

Sehgal also said Uttar Pradesh's industrial policy would allow for better transactions between stakeholders. "There is no dearth of merit in U.P. Sports would play a significant role in the state's efforts in becoming a trillion-dollar economy. We are inviting entrepreneurs through our industry policy. We have a good ecosystem. In ease of doing business, we are No. 2 in the country".
